Are your children immune?

Parents who ignore state and county immunization requirements for their children face the distinct possibility of not getting them in school this fall in some cases.

New school entrants, including pre-school, Head Start, kindergarten, first grade, out-of-district and out of state elementary, can be barred from attending school by the principal or teacher under state law and the Wayne County immunization code.

That's the word from the Wayne County Health Dept. as it embarks on a program to warn parents of the immunization requirements and to inform them of procedures to follow if their children do have required shots.

To get their children registered, parents must present proof that they have had at least one dose of vaccine for mumps, measles, rubella, polio, and DPT (diphtheria, pertussis, and tetanus) or TD (tetanus and diphtheria).

Parents whose religious beliefs are against immunization must sign a waiver form at the child's school, the health department explained.

Further exclusions of students will take place if they have not met requirements for complete immunization on Nov. 26, 1980 and Feb. 25, 1981.

On those dates, the child must have received or be in the process of receiving one dose of vaccine of measles, rubella and mumps, three doses of vaccine for polio, and four doses of vaccine for DPT or TD.

Students who have not or who are not in the process of completing required immunizations will be excluded from classes, warned the health department.

Students win scholarships

Two Romulus High School graduates were among 52 graduating high school seniors who were awarded Detroit College of Business scholarships.

Joni Braitehwaite and Kathy Nieman have received scholarships that will pay half of their tuition for two years. They will be attending the college's main campus in Dearborn.

Special meeting eyed

Cable TV vote may be reconsidered

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The recommendation made June 25 by the Western Five Community Conference to award a cable television franchise to Omnicom of Plymouth may last only as long as it takes for a reconsideration of the vote.

The disclosure was made public by Councilman Ed Rush at last week's Romulus City Council session. He said he had called Sumpter Township Sup. Robert K. Demski and that the supervisor said he would ask for a special Western Five board meeting to reconsider the vote to recommend Omnicom.

Thursday, Demski confirmed that he would send a letter this week to Van Buren Township Sup. Pat Cullin, chairman of Western Five's board, asking her for a special session of the board.

Demski said he did not favor Omnicom for the cable TV system to serve the Western Five area.

Western Five's recommendation came in a letter to Romulus council from its director, Henry Redman. Identical letters were sent to the other communities which make up the Western Five consortium - the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron and the city of Belleville.

At the June monthly meeting, the Western Five board voted 4-1 to recommend Omnicom over Comcast

New school superintendent gets down to work

If the smile on the face of his secretary, Doreen McEvilly, is any indication, Dr. William M. Bedell, new superintendent for the Romulus school district seems destined to get along well with his staff. Bedell is shown dictating to Mrs. McEvilly in the first week of his new job. Supt. Bedell and the school district received some good news last week - Romulus will share in state aid payments of approximately $17 million earmarked for public schools in the area.

Tax increase stirs council confrontation

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Last week's Romulus City Council session was anything but ordinary.

Clerk Leonard J. Folmar, shut off by Chairman Mary Ann Banks in addressing a member of the audience, stepped to the microphone a few minutes later and rapped council during the audience protion of the meeting.

The confrontation stemmed from remarks made by Mrs. Julie Carter, a local resident in the audience, who expressed disappointment at not being informed in writing of Wayne County's recent 6-percent reassessment of real property.

Mrs. Carter said she felt local citizens should be allowed to vote on tax increases. She also referred to the recent action by council that upped the city tax rate by 0.4 mills.

Banks explained to Mrs. Carter that Romulus residents did vote originally on being included in the People's Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) for which they were assessed .4 mills.

Mrs. Carter also was told that the city is limited to 10 mills for the levy it can pass on to taxpayers for city operation and that anything above that figure must be voted on by local residents.

The city's current tax rate for operation is at the 10-mill maximum, with the 0.4 mills for PCHA tacked on top.

Mrs. Carter also objected to recent pay increases voted for city officials. She was advised that only the mayor, clerk and treasurer were granted salary boosts, not council. Further, Banks said, the three elected officials thus far have not accepted the newly-granted salary hikes because of the City's tight financial condition.

At this point, Folmar attempted to question Mrs. Carter on her reading of the city council minutes in the Romulus Roman. Only a few words into his comments, Banks, as council chairman, shut him off and urged that council get on with the balance of the agenda.

A couple of minutes later, the clerk addressed council and members of the audience as a public citizen.

"I elected 10 people to represent me," he declared.

Folmar critized Banks for stopping him from speaking, explaining that all of the city's elected officials

Firework vendor's permit fizzles

A Romulus resident who currently holds a city permit to sell fireworks last week failed in his bid to extend it for an additional 30 days, time he said he needed to sell off excess inventory.

Romulus City Council took no action on the request by Donald F. Kehn, 15364 Woodmont.

Instead, the fireworks vendor was told the city's recently passed moratorium on fireworks permits was in effect and that his request could not be made a special case.

At the outset of the discussion, Councilman Ed Rush asked Mayor William M. Oakley for his recommendation on Kehn's request.

Oakley urged council to go by provisions of the moratorium and termed Kehn's predicament "unfortunate".

Kehn told council that he had sold fireworks for 30 years in the city, had never had any complaints about his operation, and that he did not sell "crackers".

Kehn stressed that his current license expired July 6, 1980, but that the two days after the Fourth of July was not sufficient time for him to

Payment is smaller than last year

Romulus schools to receive $689,560 in state aid

Fifteen districts in the state's 13th Senatorial District will share some $17,301,389 in state aid payments, according to State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

The Senate Majority Leader said the payments were made on time and will be followed by payments on Aug. 1.

"It pleases me that the payments were sent to the public school districts in the 13th District and throughout the state without any cutbacks prior to the end of the 1979-80 school year," Faust said. "Unfortunately, the Aug. 1 state aid payments will reflect smaller amounts than originally planned.

"However, we are hopeful that enough time will have lapsed since those cutbacks were announced in the executive order to allow school districts an opportunity to adjust their budgets proportionately."

In addition to basic state aid payments, some $1,534,818 in Title I money from the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and another $113,046 in money through the Vocational Education Act of 1963 also have been sent to districts in and around the 13th District.

Area school districts and the funds they received included:

— Cherry Hill School District, $504,181, in state aid, $56,466 in Title I funding and $1,497 in voc ed money;

— Inkster School District, $843,638 in state aid, $48,308 in Title I funding and $21,555 in voc ed money;

— Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $1,534,461 in state aid, $45,500 in Title I funding and $12,450 in voc ed money;

— Romulus Community Schools, $689,560 in state aid, $29,589 in Title I funding and $12,485 in voc ed money;

— Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $4,198,223 in state aid, $358,418 in Title I funding and $28,060 in voc ed money;

— Huron School District, $524,699 in state aid and $18,706 in Title I funding, and — Van Buren School District, $857,467 in state aid and $76,000 in Title I funding.

Property problem

Who owns this parcel of land?

Romulus City Council last week voted 6-0 to have the city attorney determine ownership of a small parcel of land at the northeast corner of property now owed by the Baum Funeral Home, 36885 Goddard Rd.

Discussion disclosed that much confusion surrounded who the city of Romulus should give the title to.

City records show that Doug Baum, owner of the funeral home, had paid taxes on the land in 1975, 1976, 1977 and 1978.

City records also show that Baum brought the property from a Lloyd E. Peterman, was given the title and thought he owned the land. Somehow, on May 5, 1978, the state of Michigan took over the property for non-payment of taxes.

On Dec. 28, 1979, the city of Romulus applied for and received a title to this parcel and several others. According to the state, the redemption period whereby the former owner could have redeemed the land from the state expired on June 19, 1979.

The state directed the city of Romulus to deed the property to the former owner (Baum) as it (the state) could not convey title to property it no longer owned.

A motion by Councilman Richard K. Yeramian, later withdrawn, would have conveyed the title to Baum. A second motion by Yeramain to have the city attorney find the rightful owner and come back to council with his recommendation passed unanimously.

During discussion on the property, Treasurer Beverly McAnally explained that anyone can pay taxes on any piece of land, but that fact does not establish legal ownership.

In other business, Michael Sirhan, an ice cream vendor, was asked by Mayor William M. Oakley to come to his office to resolve his complaint of not being permitted to sell his products in Elmer Johnson Park.

Sirhan, who said he lived in Romulus, said he obtained a city permit, but was stopped by concessionaires at the park from selling his merchandise. He told council that vendors already at the park told him they had been granted exclusive selling rights in the park by a man named Davidson. Director of the parks and recreation department is Dennis Davidson.

Oakley said he recalled that vendors now at the park by the name of Polka Dots had an agreement with the city that required them to pay 10 percent of their gross revenues to the city.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry contended that a city permit should enable a vendor to sell anywhere in the city. He said concessionaires now at the park had no right to tell Sirhan or anyone else that they could not operate in the park.

Sirhan said concessionaires told him further that if their concession stands were closed, he could sell. But, if their stands were open for business, he could not.

Our Heritage

Old Chicago Road also led to Canton

(EDITOR'S NOTE - With our past and heritage being wiped out with each churn of the bulldozer, there has been a loud and clear voice from our citizens to preserve what is left. And to better understand who we are today and the direction we should take in the future, we have asked the historical societies and commissions in The Associated Newspapers' circulated area to submit each week an article of interest about Our Heritage for our readers. Today, the focus is on Canton.)

By RUTH WILES
Canton Historical Society

Some of the earliest settlers known came to what is Canton Township as early as 1824.

Traveling in a wagon along what was called 'Old Chicago Road', a man and his wife came to a rise in the road that looked good and prepared to spend the night. They took everything out of the wagon and turned it over to protect themselves from bears.

The next morning they looked around and decided this part of the country looks good to live in and the ground looks good to raise food.

This is the way one family came to this area and this was the starting of a small settlement here known as 'Sheldon Corners' named after that man Timothy Sheldon.

Another was Cherry Hill, this locality a rise of ground was formerly called 'the ridge'.

In 1860, an Inn was built here and because there were a number of cherry trees around he called it Cherry Hill House. Another small settlement was Denton, and another was Tonquish Creek named after an indian.

Canton Township was created by Congressional Act when land was taken for it from Plymouth Township. March 7, 1834. Three areas nearby were named after Chinese Cities so the names were not found elsewhere in the United States and Canton Township was one of them.

Soil of Canton is watered by tributaries of the Rouge River and therefore was extremely good farm land. Thus it was that most of the folks that settled here were farmers, but they built their own homes and their own schools.

Because there was much use for horses there were blacksmiths also and we had those too.

It has not been too long ago that one of our main roads in this township was first paved and I recall hearing that the families along the way would unite and fix good hot meals for the hard working men. Sometimes they would take a short nap on the lawn after dinner.

We now have two zip codes and mail comes through Plymouth post office but there was a time when there were four post offices where folks would go to pick up their mail, they were located in the general store.

The town hall was first located on Canton Center at Cherry Hill, then it was moved to Geddes Road and now it is again on Canton Center. The original was a little wooden building, this one is larger and doing more.

Schools were built on land that was given by farmers just for that purpose. They were small one room frame buildings that held one teacher teaching all eight grades in that one room at one time. They were heated by one fire place and later one stove in the room.

Fire places and stoves burned wood that was cut by older boys and by families of students.

Later buildings were still one room but were built of bricks made on nearby farms. Teachers usually boarded in a family home near to the school and earned a small amount of monthly salary. I heard one teacher was paid the monstrous salary of 35 dollars a month. Rest rooms were out-houses in the back, one for boys and one for girls.

Water was fresh from the well carried in by bucket and drunk from the dipper. Children walked to school or were brought by wagon or rode horseback.

Vacation was set to crop growing seasons, for when crops were harvested children needed to stay home and help.

Of course, you met your neighbor at the nearby general store that sold everything from nails to gingham and from flour to ribbon or homemade maple syrup.

Flour was stored in barrel or it came in those fancy sacks that made super dish towels. There was another place you could meet your neighbor, that was the creamery where you could buy fresh milk for those who had no cow of their own.

Of course, speaking of meeting friends there was Church, they are a history lesson of their own. One minister served 4, 6 or even 10 churches. One church had their services first early Sunday morning. If the next church was not too far away there would be a service there also in the morning. Then, the next church would have their service in the afternoon and if the distance was not too great to the next church there would be another service in the afternoon. Usually only one in the evening and very early so as not to travel in the dark.

Each farmer usually learned how to fix and preserve his own meat. And I have seen beef and pork and chicken prepared for keeping for the winter. It has not been too many years ago I saw this done regularly. Now I guess the Health and Drug laws will forbid it.

Our history books are compiled from a kind of log or diary written by some of the folks. One day might read — "It is a warm clear day today. William milked the cows and worked in the field until dinner time. I picked up eggs, then mixed bread and set it to rise and it was time to fix dinner.

After dinner we went up to the store and bought some flour and the thread I need to mend the boys pants. We met Robert and Mary and they told us Albert has been sick. After I finish baking bread I will take some down and see if there is anything we can do to help. After supper we sat on the porch and rested. I only got one of the boys pants mended today."

Also there were many stories of past experiences that have been handed down within families and out township has a few of those folks whose ancestors were those who started this township. One I have quoted is Mrs. Annie Avery, who is in her ninties and still resides here, she was born in Sheldon Corners.

In 1976 a bicentenniel salute was written and the history of many families was shared in this newspaper.

How to select film

By DON GREEN

Every emulsion used in photographic film today is composed of light sensitive silver halide particles.

As light strikes the particles, it causes a chemical reaction; a latent image. The latent image is one that exists but can not be seen. Using further chemical action (a developer) will cause the latent image to become visible. This is because the developer turns the light affected silver halides into metallic silver.

The metallic silver will range in tone from black to very light gray. The tone will depend on the intensity of the light that strikes the film upon exposure.

The term grain refers to the size of the silver particles which form the image you see in your photographs.

Let's talk about the difference between the terms grain and acutance.

Photographic scientists in recent years have concluded that grain is not the problem when determining an image's sharpness, but that acutance or contour sharpness has a lot to do with image sharpness.

Acutance refers to the degree of one tonal area blands into another.

The definition of acutance would be: "A physical measurement of the transition between a light and dark area in photographic image, also known as outline or edge contrast."

You can test your favorite film for acutance by photographing a white circle on a black background. If your film has poor acutance it will be fuzzy where black meets white. A film with good acutance will have a distanct break between the two contrasting tones.

Acutance and grain are interrelated and interdependent to a degree in producing apparent sharpness, so it is possible to have a film with one of the qualities predominant over the other. Other things are needed to achieve good acutance, such as porper exposure and the thickness of the film's base.

Next week we will look at some of the other types of film you can use to broaden your artictic abilities.

A Guinea pig for a pet?

by STANLEY E. BARTKIEWICZ D.V.M.

Guinea pigs are in the order Rodentia but of the family Caviidae. They come in a variety of colors, hair lengths and hair styles.

These little animals have the bad habits of spitting food into their water and sitting in their food dishes. They are also highly allergenic and should be avoided by people with allergies.

Guinea pigs have a special nutritional requirement of vitamin C. Without adequate levels of vitamin C, they develop scurvy with painful, swollen joints. Only primates and guinea pigs require vitamin C in their diet; other animals produce it themselves.

The vitamin C in guinea pig pellets have been in storage or on a shelf so supplementation is required.

Fruits and vegetables such as kale, oranges, apples, etc. can be used as supplements to the diet on a daily basis.

However, excessive amounts will cause a diarrhea and should be avoided.

The comfort of your pet is important. The long-haired varieties should be combed out to prevent tangles. Dusty bedding will cause runny eyes and nose and should not be used. The bedding should be changed often to avoid a build up of ammonia from the waste products. This ammonia build up is irritating and may decrease resistance to respiratory infections.

Rabies is extremely rare in guinea pigs. If you are bitten, you should contact your physician for proper attention. Your doctor may recommend a tetanus vaccination or other care.

Guinea pigs are born with all their hair and their eyes open. They are able to stand and run soon after birth. Their gestation period is 63 to 70 days and they can be weaned at 10 to 14 days. They may live eight to 10 years but their lifespan as pets is an average of four to five years.

WAYCART services expand

SEMTA adds 34 more vehicles

State Rep. Edward Mahalak, Romulus City Council members, and interested citizens gathered on Monday, at a special SEMTA ceremony to mark the expansion of Wayne County Essential Transportation Service (WAYCART).

The ribbon cutting ceremony was held at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center, 36515 Bibbins. The ceremony was open to the public and refreshments were served.

WAYCART is a county-wide, demand-responsive small bus system designed primarily for use by elderly and handicapped residents of Wayne County.

Limited WAYCART service began in April 1979 with 21 vehicles (19 in service and 2 for maintenance reserve).

Monday's ceremony marked the recent addition of 34 vehicles to the WAYCART fleet, bringing the total number of vehicles now in service to 71. When in full operation the WAYCART system will have 90 vehicles.

WAYCART is one of five county-wide Essential Transportation Service (ETS) systems operated by SEMTA. Others are located in Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and Livingston counties.

SEMTA's elderly and handicapped special transportation system is one of the most extensive in the nation, and has the largest ridership in the country. In May 1980 ridership on the five county-wide systems was 43,185, including 33,304 elderly and handicapped.

In 27th district

Foley to seek county charter commissioner seat

Patrick J. Foley, Canton Township, a veteran attorney who has practiced in the private and state and county sectors, has announced his candidacy for the Democrat nomination for Wayne County Charter commissioner from the 27th district.

The charter commissioner race is separate from t4hat for nomination for a seat on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The 27th District includes the cities of Wayne, Westland, Belleville and Plymouth and the townships of Canton, Van Buren, Sumpter, Plymouth and Northville.

Foley advocates an elected county executive directly responsible to the voters, that membership on the Board of Commissioners should be between 15 and 25, favors establishment of a charter commission, and supports one office to control all financial functions of the county.

Foley spent 10 years in private law practice in Wayne County, seven and one-half years in state government, including six years as special assistant to the Secretary of State and one and one-half years as assistant attorney general; and as an assistant county prosecutor and director of the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

During his work with the county, Foley said he learned that ".....Wayne County government is fragmented, inefficient and ineffectual".

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Chicago and his law degree from the University of Michigan. He is a member of the Michigan State Bar Association and was admitted to practice law before the Michigan Supreme Court and the U. S. District Court in January of 1957.

Foley is the father of five children and is now functioning in the role of deputy chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County and director of the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Tax increase stirs council debate: Folmar vs. Banks should be allowed to speak at council sessions.

"I would not like to see out city government preventing people from being heard," Folmar said.

Banks responded, "I have never suppressed anyone who is presenting comments in a proper manner. I did not feel your remarks were germane to the issue."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry then got into the act. He said Folmar's defense of his actions was "debatable". He said Banks acted properly in stopping the clerk.

"No one up there should cross-examine members of the audience," he emphasized.

Councilman Ed Rush said he supported Raspberry in his contention that the city charter made no reference to anyone other than a member of council being permitted to voluntarily participate in council discussion.

"I think that the council has bent over backwards in letting the clerk speak at council meetings," said Rush. "I'm sorry that Leonard feels slighted."

Stepping to the public microphone for the second time, Folmar stressed that he had "an intimate relationship" with the clerk. He said he would be "extremely distressed" if council meetings were held only for the seven council members and not for all 10 elected officials.

Saying he was aware that the council made the decisions, the clerk said he would not relinquish his sworn obligation.

"I will devise a method to be heard," declared Folmar.

Banks admitted that all of the city's elected officials have the responsibility of offering information at council sessions. She reiterated that she had not meant to suppress Folmar, but had wanted to go on with the rest of the meeting's business.

"No one on council wants to deprive anyone in the audience or city government from speaking," said Rush. "I just objected to how the clerk did it."

Following the meeting, the Roman learned that Charles Lowther, city attorney, apparently in response to a request, had sent a letter to council concerning council minutes.

He advised council that the city could save money on publication of city minutes in the local newspaper by condensing them.

Some communities follow the practice of shortening council or township board sessions, but often run into complaints from local readers.

Many residents, especially those who are shut-ins or who do not attend council or board meetings for a variety of reasons, faithfully follow those sessions through reading detailed minutes published in the local newspaper.

The newspaper's news section does not have room for every subject that is discussed at public meetings, so readers have only the official minutes as their source of information on action taken by elected public bodies on some matters.

One councilman said he believed Folmar, when questioning Mrs. Carter, was attempting to defend his policy of publishing detailed council minutes.

"MICKEY" McLAUGHLIN

"Mickey" honored

The City Council passed a memorial resolution Monday night honoring veteran Police Chief Clayton "Mickey" McLaughlin, who died last week after a short illness.

A tearful City Clerk, Agnes Frisch, read the resolution before a standing room only crowd in the council chambers. The resolution said: whereas, on the 28th day of June, 1980, death brought to a close the active life of beloved friend Clayton "Mickey" McLaughlin; and

WHEREAS, Mickey has, through his sterling qualities of heart and mind, his stabilizing influence and his devotion and loyalty to this community, earned the affection of the people of the City of Belleville; and

WHEREAS, the stature he attained as Chief of Police, establishing the Police Reserve Unit as one of his many achievements, was recognized during his lifetime,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Mayor and City Council of the City of Belleville, Michigan, does, by this resolution and public record, recognize the profound influence of Mickey McLaughlin on all who knew him, recognizing further that his death is a distinct loss to the city in which he worked and won deep respect and affection.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Council and a copy thereof be sent to his family in recognition of Mickey McLaughlin's respected place in this community.

Special meeting eyed

Cable TV may be reconsidered

of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., and United Cable of Englewood, Colo.

The board, composed of elected mayors and supervisors of the five communities, had only three of its members present on the day of the vote. Van Buren Township Sup. Pat Cullin and Sumpter Township Robert K. Demski were not on hand and had someone else representing them.

Cullin's sit-in, Donna Hall, cast the sole vote against Omnicom, while Demski's replacement, his secretary, Shirley Sulkey, supported and voted for the motion by Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley to recommend the Plymouth cable TV firm.

Commenting on the written recommendation from Western Five during council discussion, Mary Ann Banks, council president, sied she was "surprised" at the recommendation and that she "personally resented" the complete lack of reasons for why Omnicom was selected.

Omnicom, Comcast and United had bid for franchiese to install and own a cable TV system for the five communities together. Later, Omnicom requested the opportunity to bid on a franchise for Romulus alone.

That special public meeting came hours after Western Five's vote of support June 25 for Omnicom. Also making presentations were Comcast, United, Wayne Cable of Taylor, Metrovision of Troy, and Bell Broadcasting Co. of Romulus.

Romulus council took no action that night or last week after receiving the Western Five recommendation of Omnicom.

Both councilmen Rush and Jimmie Raspberry advocated taking a good look at what other cable TV companies had to offer. Further, Rush emphasized that council should investigate areas where bidding cable TV companies now have franchises in operation to see how area residents evaluate their performance.

Raspberry declared it was the council's decision to make on who should be awarded the cable TV franchise and that Western Five's recommendations was just that, a recommendation.

His views coincided with those made by Oakley at the Western Five neeting. The Romulus Mayor stressed that any recommendation by Western Five is "non-binding" in nature, and that the final decision on a franchise is up to the individual councils and boards of the five communities.

Rush said he personally observed cable TV in Traverse City and was not satisfied with the reception there. He also urged checking into how well the various cable TV firms are doing in areas they now have in operation.

Mrs. Julie Carter, a member of the audience, said she and other residents were apprehensive about all of the fireworks stands on city street corners.

"When we hear a bang, we don't know if it's a firecracker or a tank," she declared. She referred to the many tanks in Romulus which store millions of gallons of gasoline and other volatile liquids at several tank farms.

Mrs. Carter said too many vendors are selling fireworks and that she felt sorry for Kehn. However, she said, fireworks are a "nuisance to our neighborhoods and the public".

Mrs. Carter said she read in a [illegible] Romulus is noted for the large number of fireworks stands in operation before and after July 4.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said he concurred with Oakley's recommendation to abide by the city moratorium on issuing any more fireworks permits.

Raspberry said the moratorium came about as a result of public opinion. If council were to agree to extend Kehn's permit, the action "would open a Pandora's box", said the councilman.

In his defense, Kehn told council that he felt the moratorium applied only to new licenses or permits, not to ones currently held. He said he did not feel the time since the moratorium was passed May 27 and now was enough for him to make

Bill would require annual inspections of drains

'... It's important we keep our drains in good working order...' State Rep. Mahalak

A bill to require an annual inspection of drains at the request of the governing body of the drain area has been introduced in the House by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus).

Mahalak said his bill would require the county drain commissioner or someone he designates to inspect county drains. Intercounty drain inspections would be made at the request of the drainage board, he said.

The Bill (H.B. 5900) would authorize the drain commissioner to spend up to $800 per mile annually for work on intercounty drains, Mahalak said. The repairs or maintenance work could not exceed two percent of the original cost of the drain.

If needed work exceeded that amount the governing body of each township, city or village affected by more than 20 percent of the cost would have to pass a resolution approving the expenditure, Mahalak said.

If the drain fund did not have enough money to pay for the work, the bill would allow the drainage board to reassess the drain district for the cost of the work.

"The reassessment would be based on the benefits received from the drain," Mahalak said. "It would be spread over the city or township assessment roll within two years from the completion of the inspection."

Under the bill, if the drain work cost more than $800 or two percent of the original cost of the drain and extension per mile, all landowners involved would be notified by mail and through the newspaper, according to Mahalak.

He said property owners could apply for a reduction in their assessment if they must do work on their property to keep the drain in good operating order.

If a county drain is involved, Mahalak said the reduction request would go to the drain commissioner. However, for an intercounty drain the request would be sent to the drainage board.

In either case, the drain commissioner would have 30 days to determine the reduction, said Mahalak.

"It is important that we keep our drains in good working order," Mahalak said. "The water run-off system that they provide is essential in times of heavy rains and in many cases allows land to be used that would be only swamp."

"This bill is designed to ensure that pumping equipment is kept in good working order and that drains are clear and free of obstructions," Makalak said.

Under the bill, salaries and other expenses of the drain commissioners and drainage board staff for work incidental to operation, repair and maintenance of the drains would be paid from the county's general fund.

It would be illegal to pay these expenses from the drain revolving fund, Mahalak said.

Violation of the provision would be a misdemeanor punishable by up to a year in prison or a fine of up to $1,000.

It's fishing from the boats only now

Analysis

'No fishing' from bridges is working

Except for a few isolated cases on the Belleville side, all fishing at Belleville Lake Bridge has come to a halt, the recent erection of signs forbidding fishing, loitering, swimming and parking has accomplished its objective.

Reports are Van Buren Township is doing a good job of enforcing the fishing ban on its half of Belleville Lake Bridge and at two other bridges in its jurisdiction - Denton Road Bridge and Haggerty Road Bridge.

The city and the township are cooperating in the multiple ban. Van Buren passed a special motion for a temporary halt until results of three advisory questions come in from the Aug. 5 primary election.

Belleville felt its current city ordinance was sufficient to stop fishing, loitering, swimming and parking at or near the part of Belleville Road Bridge in its limits and did not pursue placing an advisory question on the ballot.

Concensus in the township is that most residents favor the ban on fishing and other activities, especially in view of the large tournout of protesters at recent board meetings.

Should results of the voting on the advisory questions support that prediction, a special fishing site may have to be constructed on Belleville Lake for township residents and fishermen from other areas. A portion or all of the cost may have to come out of the pockets of township taxpayers.

Since the lake is stocked with fish by the state Department of Natural Resources, in theory, anyone in the state should have access to catching them. State tax dollars are involved.

On the other hand, how far can the state go in invading the rights of citizens of a township or city?

If the vote on the advisory questions back fishing and other activities at lake bridges then, for example, who will compensate city merchants now putting out extra efforts and expense for use of parking lots, restrooms and litter pickup - the city or the state?

If the vote favors fishing, who will soothe aggrivated feelings of motorists slowed down by fishermen-pedestrians? Will the city and township or the state pay for portable toilet facilities for fishermen who spend hours at a time near lake bridges?

These questions and others will have to be answered when the primary election is over and results from the advisory questions come rolling in.

Here's some tax tips

If you are lucky enough to be able to buy a vacation home, but rent it out to help subsidize the cost, check with a tax advisor about possible deductions you may claim on your federal income tax return. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants say some tax benefits depend on how many days you live in a house or rent it to others during the year.

When renting out your vacation home for less than two weeks a year there is no need to report rental income or any profit on the rental. However, you can't deduct any expenses related to the rental either.

As the owner of a vacation home, the CPAs say, you may deduct mortgage interest, property taxes and casualty losses from your federal income tax just as you do on your personal residence, regardless of the amount of personal use.

To consider your vacation home a business for federal income tax purposes, you cannot live in it more than two weeks a year, or 10 percent of the number of days it is rented. If you rent your house for 250 days a year, you could live in it for 25 days.

Deductions of depreciation allowance, expense for maintenance and repairs, utilities and rental agent fees are allowable.

Deering's offers insurance discount to non-smokers

Citizens Insurance Company of America, represented in Belleville by Henry R. Deering Agency, Inc. has announced it is now offering a 10 percent discount for non-smokers on all of its homeowners insurance policies.

Although the idea of reduced rates for non-smokers is not new in the insurance industry, Citizens is one of the first companies to bring it to Michigan.

To qualify for the 10 percent discount, homeowners will be asked to verify that no resident of their household has smoked cigarettes, cigars, or pipes, for a period of at least one year.

"The statistics were overwhelming," a company spokesman for the Michigan-based firm stated. "Non-smoking households are better fire risks than smoking households. It is clear to us that non-smokers deserve to have that fact reflected in their homeowners premiums."

The new 10 percent discount for non-smokers is applicable on all Citizens homeowners policies, including those for renters and apartment dwellers, all across Michigan.

"The insurance industry must continue to become more responsive to the needs of individual policyholders, and we think the new 10 percent non-smoking discount for homeowners represents a significant step toward that goal," the Citizens spokesman added.

"And, if discounting homeowners rates for non-smokers will encourage people to quit smoking, or not start smoking, that's terrific, too!"

Why is a Will so Important?

It is a sobering fact to find out that if you do not leave a legally acceptable will, the state supplies a ready-made one which may or may not carry out your desires.

An oral or handwritten will is not considered legal in many states and will not necessarily be considered in the handling of your estate.

When a legal will has not been recorded, the possibilities of inequities are many. These inequities can often lead to additional expenses and heartaches to your survivors at a time when many other decisions must also be made.

To make out a will with a lawyer's guidance assures you that you — and not the state — will direct the distribution of your estate.

If you do not know a lawyer to help with your will, contact the nearest bar association, your bank or someone used to dealing with lawyers.

Making a will is a difficult and emotional task, another reminder that death will indeed come to each of us. Drawing up your will and making your pre-need funeral arrangements are two necessary steps which every adult ought to make. We suggest you do both now instead of when it's too late.

Guidebook features vacation tips

Close-to-home treks can save money

Everything you always wanted to know about southeast Michigan — and probably were never able to find in one book—is available free from the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association.

The book highlights the spring-summer things to see and do in the 11-county region the Association serves. It covers the gaumuut of indoor and outdoor events, festivals, fairs, cultural attractions and museums, accommodations, shopping, fine dining and the like.

Designed especially for the general traveler—but also of great value to the convention delegate—the guidebook presents in 4-pcolor a complette description of the better known attractions, but also some of the lesser known.

"We have put together in one package one of the best information items our office has ever compiled," said Sid Baker, Association President. "The guidebook is a testimonial to the excellent cooperation we have received from many tourist and travel sources."

Baker said that he believes this is going to be an important year for close-to-home travel.

"Our advance information indicates that people will be planning vacation trips within a tankful of gas from their homes. Our new guidebook offers them many chances to have fun in our area, ranging from mini-trips and special weekend packages to a business trip combined with pleasure."

Loogootees to get together in Wayne

Joe, Bob and Ray Graham operated the Graham Glass Factory in Loogootee, Indiana until 1921 when they moved to Michigan and established Graham Truck in Detroit. They encouraged their Loogootee employees to move to Michigan where their Truck Plant was building the trucks for the Dodge Brothers.

In 1927, they bought the Paige-Jewett Automobile Company and opened a factory in Wayne called the Graham-Paige.

Again they asked friends and relatives who had previously worked for them, to goin them in building automovbile bodies at the plant located on Michigan Avenue just east of the viaduct. Many of the families who came to work in Wayne are still in this area as well as people who already lived here and were employed at Graham-Paige.

The City of Wayne will be sponsoring a reunion of these people, their friends and relatives as part of the Homecoming Festival to be held on Sunday, September 7 from noon until five o'clock p.m. There will be prizes awarded in different categories as well as a chance for people to get together and talk.

The Festival Commission suggests that people attending the Hoosier Reunion may either bring their own picnic dinner or plan to buy at the Service Club Fodd Booths. Many other activities will be going on at the Festival on that day and the Hoosiers and Graham-Paige Alumni are urged to participate in those activities also.

Appointed

Boost for senior, first home-buyers

Bill will help make more mortgage money available

Senior citizens, first-time home buyers and homeowners in need of added capital will all benefit through legislation passed last week by the House of Representatives.

Sponsored by Representative William R Keith (D-Garden City), the legislation institutues sweeping reforms in state law dealing with savings and loan associations. The bill is modeled after federal statute changes affecting federally-chartered savings and loans.

"A major objective of the bill is to greatly expand the amount of money available for mortgages, especially for first-time home buyers," said Keith.

"Under existing law, state-chartered associations have only limited mortgage alternatives. Mr bill authorizes graduated payment mortgages, which lowers the initial house payments a young home buyer would have to make and increases payments as that person's income rises." This will make it possible for thousands of young people to qualify for financing in this State that otherwise would not be able to buy a home.

A major innovation of importance to senior allows granting of reverse annuity" mortgages.

"These mortgages are designed to allow persons who have paid for their homes to borrow money on their equity, instead of making a monthly payment. The homeowner would receive a monthly check from the savings and loan association. The loan would be repaid when that person's estate is probated. This will allow seniors to live in their homes rather than being forced to sell in order to get cash to meet their expenses."

The legislation expands the powers of savings and loans in several areas in an effort to expand the amount of capital available for making loans.

"They will be allowed to offer what are known as NOW accounts, which are interest-paying checking accounts," said Keith, and "the authority to issue credit cards.

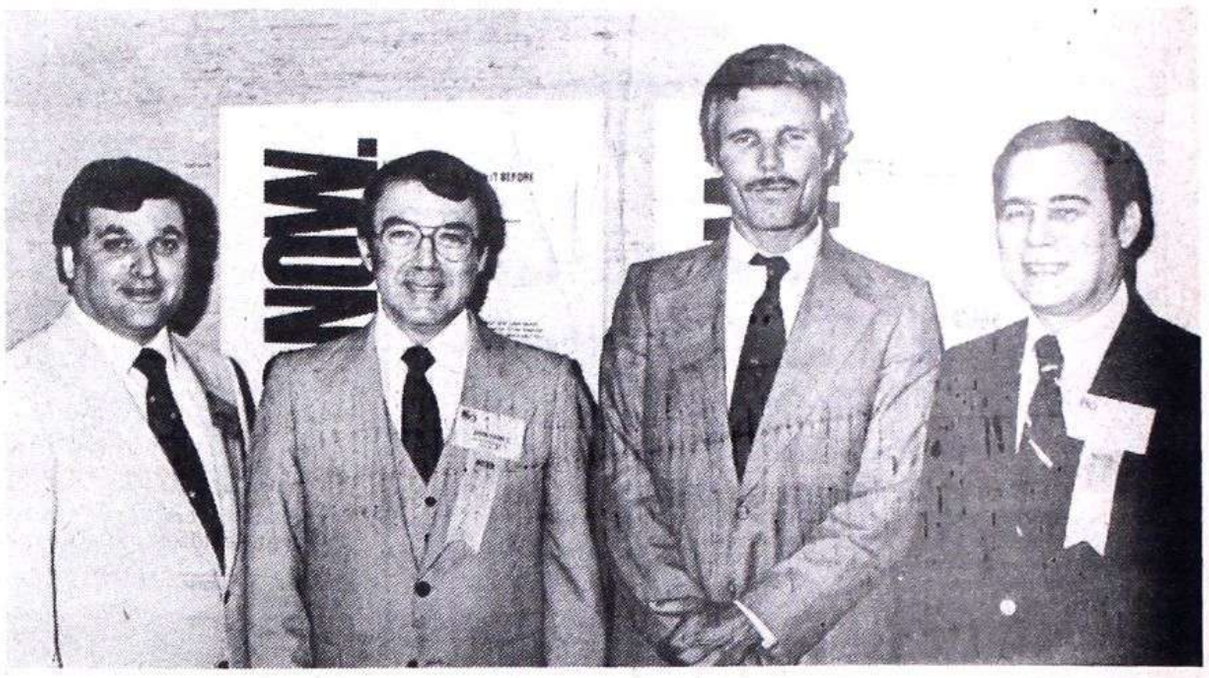
Homeowners will benefit through the authority granted in the bill for savings and loan associations to grant second mortgages.

"The major financial asset most people own is their equity in their house" said Keith.

"Allowing second mortgages will make it easier for people to use that equity without having to remortgage a low interest rate for a higher one."

Keith said an ultimate effect of his legislation, if approved by the Senate, will be to spur the housing market in Michigan.

"Michigan leads the nation in home ownership, but there remains a substantial pent-up demand for owner-occupied housing. This legislation will not only make the capital available to begin to meet that demand, but it will also make great segments of our society eligible for financing that presently are being excluded, and that can only mean a major increase in residential construction throughout the state and that means jobs."



Via satellite

Omnicom of Michigan and Cable News Network (CNN) will soon be linked together in a satellite system that will bring live, 24-hours-a-day news coverage to Omnicom's cable television network in Southeastern Michigan. Ted Turner (third from left), the colorful Atlanta businessman who conceived the CNN Network, met recently with Omnicom officials to discuss the arrangement. From left are Jeff Dorn, vice president - sales and franchising for Omnicom,; John Raines, president; Turner,; and Leo Hoarty, vice president - marketing. A subsidiary of Capital Cities Communications, Omnicom is the largest cable television company in Wayne County. The company currently is building cable systems in the cities of Hamtramck, Plymouth, Norhtville, and Westland, and the townships of Plymouth, Northville and Canton.

G.M. says it'll match state sales tax reductions plan

In an effort to stimulate car and truck sales General Motors today announced that it will match the Michigan sales tax reduction signed into law by Governor Milliken.

As a result of this action, the GM customer will in effect pay no Michigan sales tax on GM passenger cars and some light-duty trucks during the period of the program.

The GM matching savings, combined with the sales tax reduction, will provide Michigan GM customer savings ranging from $162 on a Chevrolet Chevette Scooter to $1,032 on a Cadillac Seville based on the Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price.

Further, it is anticipated that many major banks and lending agencies such as GMAC will provide reduced financing rates. For example, GMAC is instituting a program that will permit participating dealers to provide savings for Michigan customers of up to $500 on a typical 48-month contract.

In addition, GM new car and truck buyers in Michigan will benefit further during the program period by being exempt from the recently-announced price increase - 1.6 percent or $135 on an average equipped car basis.

All 1979-80 General Mootors cars are eligible for both the state sales tax reduction and the GM savings.

Census Bureau eyes employment survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 14-19, 1980, Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households thourghout the United States.

Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 105.1 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.8 percent, up from 7.0 percent in April and 6.2 percent in March.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Editorial opinions

Let's hope GOP rediscovers area

We don't know how Mayor ColemanYoung of Detroit pulled off the miracle - but the GOP Convention is a welcome to this state.

We know Detroit will have a lot to offer the conventioneers - it is, indeed, enjoying a renaissance. Hart Plaza - the Renaissance Center - the Metropolitan Downtown district - have become internationally known.

But, we also hope that the GOP will rediscover our area: Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Belleville, Canton Township, Inkster and Livonia. We also have much to offer in heritage, tradition, culture, food and entertainment.

Western Wayne County has a tradition of warmly welcoming its guests and travelers.

Romulus, where the Michigan Republican delegation will be housed, and where delegates and visitors will arrive at Detroit Metro Airport, especially will be in the limelight.

The city plans to hang a "Welcome to Romulus" banner at a strategic location on I-94.

Local merchants have contributed information kits and souvenirs for the delegates.

Republicans who do come and take advantage of our hospitality can go back home singing our praises. They can do the opposite if we do not offer them our traditional Michigan hand of welcome and good cheer.

We are thankful that the Republican National Committee chose Michigan as the site of their national conclave. The influx of an estimated 20,000 visitors to our shores will have a long and lasting effect on Detroit and our immediate area.

Millions of dollars will pour into downtown and local businesses, new personal friendships will be formed and possible new relationships with a new federal administration could be forged.

Michigan has a golden opportunity to show the world via satellite-transmitted television what we as a state have to offer prospective new residents and industries.

The GOP selected our state.

Now, it is up to us to choose how we will greet and treat them. Much could hang in the balance for our state's future.

Those huge trucks must be detoured

They are huge, ugly diesel trucks that slice their way through Van Buren Township through the heart of Belleville, rumbling on to their destination — a landfill in Sumpter.

The cargo these trucks carry — sludge — with a Made in Detroit stamp — has stirred the emotions of residents and politicians in the city and townships.

There are two sides to everything — one is the money from the sludge helps fill the local coffers; the other is that sludge stinks.

We agree. Sludge stinks.

Return the trucks and the sludge where they were manufactured — back to Detroit.

And let residents get a bit of restful and quiet sleep.

Cable TV controversy

A councilwoman's concerns

Editor: The Administration of the City of Westland has presented a plan of great merit for a cable TV system with a two-way capability.

Later, this system could provide home security and emergency services, as well as many other services. I have no problem with the concept of this plan.

Presently, the City is considering a company to build this 2-way cable system. I do have a problem with how we shall select that company. I ask you to consider the following seven (7) facts:

1. An undated public notice was sent to franchise companies. (Franchise companies don't build systems to sell, but rather build them to make money in owning the system.)

2. Receipts from those companies indicate that they received the notice as late as May 1, 1980. (The closing date to get the Request for Proposal (R.F.P.) was May 12, 1980.)

3. The closing date for proposals (bids) was May 23, 1980. (Not a long tme to prepare for a bid on such a large market by any company interested.)

4. No company that builds cable TV systems received a Public Notice. (If a person wanted a firm that constructs cable TV systems, why not send a Public Notice to a builder like R.C.A., Jerrold, Magnavox, Secore or U.S. Cablevision? Presently R.C.A. designs cable TV systems, builds systems, trains local people to operate them and also finances the system.)

5. The City had only one bidder, Omnicom. (Omnicom is an eleven (11) month-old company that will have to hire someone to build the system and will then manage the system for a fee.)

6. Why not eliminate the "middle-man"? (This is a $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 project and surely we could cut costs with going directly to the builder and then using local people.)

7. Why the rush to decide that the only bidder will construct our system? (There may be several other builders who would like to give the City a better price.)

Since your Westland City Council will be making the decision soon on a contract that the City (we, the taxpayers, really) will be living with a long time, drop them a line or give them a phone call.

I'm sure that after you have read and considered the above seven points, you will want to let them know how you feel about rebidding this cable TV system. After all, it's our money one way or another that we'll be spending over the next ten or so years.

NANCY NEAL
Westland Councilwoman

The Mayor's response

Editor: The opportunity to respond to Councilperson Neal's concerns is greatly appreciated. I would have preferred to share information with her face-to-face at a Council Study Session. Apparently, her schedule does not permit this, as she missed the two-hour meeting at which these items were discussed.

1. The Public Notice that was mailed to 45 companies and printed in the City's official newspaper (THE WESTLAND EAGLE,) THE DETROIT NEWS, THE DETROIT FREE PRESS, THE WALL STREET JOURNAL and The Dodge Reports (a construction trade journal,) was drafted exactly as are all City Notices. All Notices were mailed registered mail. The Notice stated that it was the preference of the City that the company which built the system also agree to manage the system. However, this was not an absolute requirement. The companies which only build systems read THE WALL STREET JOURNAL and The Dodge Reports.

2. Allowing a company over a week to decide if it wishes to request a bid package is more than enough time.

3. From the time companies received the Legal Notice, they had three weeks to prepare a bid. That is, also, ample time for any company truly interested.

4. The first line in this statement is incorrect. It, also, conflicts with Mrs. Neal's own statement in Item Number 1.

5. Omnicom is a young company headed by managers with extensive experience and knowledge of cable television. Omnicom is owned by Capital Cities Communication which, after the three networks, is the largest communication (media) company in this country. Capital Cities' annual profits are greater than the net worth of many of the companies Mrs. Neal mentions. They will do an excellent job for Westland.

6. While I am not convinced that any company Mrs. Neal mentions would bring our system cheaper, my main concern is getting the best possible system for Westland. This system will carry security signals that people's lives will depend on. The safest way to insure a good system is to have it built by a company that is going to have to work with it for years. Her recommendation would allow a company to come to Westland, build the system, get their profit and, then, leave us to live with what they had built. Cutting costs is a priority but it comes after my responsibility to protect people's lives and property.

7. This total project has been researched for over two years. The cable television portion researched for over one year. More effort on the part of the Mayor and the City Council has gone into this project than any other in the history of the City. The planning and preparation is completed. It is time to move ahead. Unjustified delays at this point will add nothing to this project except more cost. We shall move carefully ahead and complete this project.

Silver anniversary party

By TOM MOORADIAN
Acting Managing Editor

Faces reflect most of our inner feelings and thoughts. Happiness. Anguish. Love. Hate. All can be seen if one studies a person's face.

Monday night at the Belleville City Hall in the Council Chamber, one could not help but see "surprise" written all over Mayor Justin Emerson's cherubic face.

Van Buren Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin had managed to keep what we had considered a loosely-kept secret a secret. Van Buren officials had decided to throw the city fathers a Silver Anniversary Birthday Party.

And, Monday night, when Cullin and her group stormed into the Council Chambers followed by a huge birthday cake, Mayor Emerson's face broke out in a huge smile. All he could come up with was: "I don't believe this. You buggers, you. I haven't seen so many people here in this room in all my life."

It was a party, indeed. It interrupted the council proceedings for more than an hour as participants broke for "birthday cake" and coffee.

Although she has her string of critics, Mrs. Cullin was eloquent and assuring as her township's spokesman. She said: "The Township expresses its good wishes for the continued prosperity for the city of Belleville within the township borders, and its hope for a continuation of the spirit of cooperation that has existed between the two governments for the first 75 years."

The township and Belleville do have a unique relationship. Can you name another community that has incorporated into a city and still remained inside the geographic domain of the township?

As historian Cathy Horst puts it: "What is now the city of Belleville was incorporated out of Van Buren Township by an act of the legislature in 1905. For the first time in township history, the township had an incorporated and separate village within its boundaries."

There were speeches Monday night. Some may have thought too many. But there was one thought I feel I should share with our readers. It came from Mrs. Roberts, whose brother-in-law, Orlo, is a past mayor of the city. Orlo recently suffered a stroke and wasn't able to attend the ceremonies.

"Orlo, as most of you know, can't be here to speak for himself," Mrs. Roberts told the audience. "I am honored to speak for him because, as mayor of Belleville, I believe he spoke for all of us many times.

"He cared about us and listened to our needs before he voiced his own. A city would be greatly hampered if there were not leaders such as Orlo to help us pool our ideas, combine our energies, and maximize our efforts.

"Because, like you, I sincerely believe Orlo lent Belleville and the entire area his God-given gifts of leadership, love, and hard work, it is my privilege to accept honors in his name.

"He will have served our city again if all of us will learn from him today to contribute whatever gifts we have to make our little space on earth more wonderful while we are in it."

Streak of bad luck

Life can be strange, can't it.. While writing the above, I was interrupted by someone who is in dire need of help. The woman, a former Westland resident, is now living out of her car somewhere in Hines Park.

"I am for real," says Mrs. Grace Barton, "and I am not lying when I tell you that I have no home. That Social Security payments have been cut off, and I'm turning to you for help."

Mrs. Barton said that her husband died in 1975 and that she was receiving Social Security funds until her son became 18 years old.

"For the past five days I have been sleeping in my car in Hines Park. I move it when it gets dark because it's against the law to stay in the park after dark, so I drive to a dead end street and stay there until the morning."

The 54-year-old widow said she grew up in Bay City and moved to Detroit when she was a teen. She married and raised a family in Westland, before the streak of bad luck caught up to her.

Not only is she homeless, Mrs. Barton said she broke her right arm in a fall.

Is there anything anyone can do for her.. Please contact her at this number — 277-4987.

Cancer answers

There's no link between stress and cancer

Cancer Answers by Paul G. Dyment, M.D., appears through the courtesy of the Cleveland Clinic Cancer Center. Questions may be directed to the Cancer Information Service at 9500 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44106.

Question: Can stress cause cancer?

Answer: Although this possibility is widely discussed, there is no evidence that any human cancers have even been produced or even precipitated by stress. In Susa Sontag's book, "Illness as Metaphor" (New York, Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 1978), she describes how this same belief by other people made it more difficult for her to adjust to her own cancer.

Question: My mother had breast cancer several years ago, but now our doctor says she has developed "metastases." What does that mean?

Answer: Cancer starts in one place in the body, and then grows by invading the surrounding tissues. As long as the cancer stays in only one site is is called "localized" and it can frequently be cured with surgery, X-ray treatments, and drug treatments (called chemotherapy), used alone or in combination with each other.

Unfortunately, too often some cancer cells become detached from the main cancer and are carried through the lymph channels or blood vessels to other parts of the body. These new cancers are called "metastases," and they are usually the cause of death. This is why it is so important to detect cancer early so the cancer can be treated before it spreads. Cancer specialists are much more successful treating localized cancer than widespread cancer.

Question: I am going to receive x-ray treatments for cancer. My doctor has said they will probably cure me, but I am still frightened about receiving them. What are these treatments like?

Answer: Not bad, really. Cancers deep in the body which are unable to be completely removed can be treated successfully with radiation treatments. The treatments last only a few minutes and are given usually only five days a week for a month or more.

The only discomfort during the treatments is usually only a vague feeling of not being well (like having the "flu") throughout the treatment program. Along with this, your appetite will probably lessen, and a few patients develop nausea and vomiting as a result of the radiation. Fortunately, all of these symptoms stop when the treatments are completed and the patient can then return to a normal life.

There is no effect on sexual function unless the testicles or ovaries are included in the path of the x-ray beam. If that is the case, the patient would become sterile, and if the dose of the radiation therapy is strong enough, then the ovaries in its path might also stop secreting hormones. Fortunately, most cancers being treated with radiation treatments are located far enough away from the lower abdomen that this is not a problem.

Question: Can my little niece with leukemia ever really be cured?

Answer: Yes. If she has the common form of childhood leukemia, and she receives the kind of treatment widely available today, she has a greather than 50 percent chance

Paving the 'American way'

EDITOR — All our life we have heard 'or the American way.' Westland is in America, isn't it? I'm beginning to wonder. You folks who are about to have paving had better take a look at what can happen to your property.

For almost thirty years we have had a nice lot and have had no street problems. Now, we have a pavement dropped five feet lower than the sidewalk. The sidewalk was taken out of our double drive, which we share with the house next door. The drive is now so steep that we won't be able to get in and out in the wintertime.

The pavement is between one and two feet above the waterline, and in the winter the frost goes down to four feet.

In front of our house, about three feet out from our sidewalk the sand bank has a drop off of over four feet. When it rains water runs down the sidewalk (which they are going to lower and make gullies down to the road side). In places the sand has washed over the rise on the road edge, and is now on the road.

We had wider pavement so as to have on street parking. Today, word circled the neighborhood, that they plan to move the mail boxes to the bank side of the road, and post "no parking" signs. Our property has far less worth since the paving than it had before. We invite you to drive out to N. Crown Street, and as you drive north of Ford Road on Crown. The block beyond Stacey will give you an insight as to what the city of Westland cares about you or your property. If you call City Hall, you are told that the job was let to a company, and you can take it up with their engineers.

If you drive out, see if you can figure what will happen to our drive if they lower the sidewalk. It is a foot and a half below the sidewalk now. We sure are sick to have our property left in such shape, and no relief on the horizon. Be sure to look in front of 6024 N. Crown St.

Thank you.

Mrs. Harold Briggs
Westland

P.S. When they first cut the roadway, my car dragged the pavement when I backed out so I park at the curb. When I bring home groceries, I have to step halfway up the sand bank, hoist the grocery bags up on the sidewalk level, then climb the drive, walk back down the yard to the bags and carry then in. I am 65, and breathing isn't my best department, and I surely don't need this aggravation.

Problems at mobile park

EDITOR- May I please use your newspaper to write an 'Open Letter to Governor Milliken?

Dear Governor:

I know that, at this time of campaigning and the Republican Convention coming to Detroit in a few weeks, you must be a very busy man. Just outside of Detroit at Canton, Michigan, in Holiday Estates, a mobile home park we are experiencing some very serious problems.

Last year in November the owners raised my rent from $90 a month to $140 a month. Now it has been increased an additional $7.50 for a club house on 8-1-80 and an additional $7.50 for a swimming pool on 9-1-80. When we bought our home, we were promised a club house and a pool and were told they were included in our rent payments. We understand that tenants who moved in at the time the park was opened were also promised the same thing. To date, the pool has not yet been started. The club house was started this spring and is not yet completed for use by tenants.

My wife and I are retired and this poses an additional hardship on us along with the heating costs, the trailer payments, lights, gas and food prices rising weekly.

I am not writing this just for myself but for all of the other retired people in this park on fixed incomes, the people who are laid off indefinitely and who are working shorter work weeks. and the young adults in here who are trying to get a start in life who may lose what little they have and, worse, the small children who are dependent upon them who will suffer for what they know nothing of.

I have been told there is nothing to stop the owners legally from raising the rent anytime they want. I do not understand who causes these additional hardships, but if money be the only pleasure even at the expense of others, then I pity all of us.

We have a lot of other problems. Swing sets are not allowed in the tenants' yards for their children, although there are no playgrounds or facilities in the park for them. Some young adults were playing volley ball on a Sunday afternoon last week and were told they could not play anymore. I was told that I could not have a screen house set up permanently in my own yard. I would have to take it down after every weekend. I am a 100 percent disabled veteran and this would prove a hardship for me. There are many, many problems of which the most pressing is the rent increase.

I have not always agreed with your political decisions and policies; however, you have struck me as a hard worker and a just man who believes in his own convictions, or I would not be writing this letter.

I hope and pray that you will look into this and I trust you will help us find a solution for our problems here at Holiday Estates.

Fishermen abuse Belleville Lake

EDITOR - We would like to thank and congratulate The Associated Newspapers for printing the recent editorial by Mr. George Roberts.

In the editorial, Mr. Roberts mentioned the fishing situation on Belleville Lake's bridges and approachways which has stirred up surrounding residents.

The most recent Township Board meeting held to resolve the problem of fishing in these areas was held two weeks prior to the printing of the article.

At that meeting the Board agreed to post signs stating "NO FISHING, NO PARKING, NO LOITERING, NO SWIMMING." The subject would be brought before the voters in August. The voters would have to approve the suggested ordinance or decline it.

Until the referendum, the Board agreed to enforce the signs.

It is curious to note that on the very day the editorial article was printed, the Township posted the new signs and began enforcing them. The morning before the article broke about 60 people were fishing; by 4:30, no one was there except the Township Police.

Fishermen have returned periodically to continue their normal practices, when the police are not around. The area residents will not accept mere token enforcement.

In the same edition in the opinion section, commentary was made by a resident who supports fishing on Belleville Lakes bridges and approachways. Somehow the complaining residents feel this kind of opinion misses the real point.

Belleville Lake is beautiful and it must be kept that way. In French the name Belleville means beautiful city, or beautiful town.

Along Belleville Lake's bridges and approachways, however, there is not much beauty. The scenery around the bridges has been bottles, cans, papers and bait strewn helter skelter.

The residents are sick and tired of the garbage. They have to drive through the mess every day to and from work, shopping and their varied activities.

The residents are disgusted with seeing fishermen expose themselves while urinating right where they fish, hear them yell obscentities, and fear that they might hit one of the fishermens' unattended children.

It would be nice and neighborly to have "Welcome to Belleville Lake" signs, but what really does "Welcome" mean?

Does it mean you're welcome to have an uncontrolled free for all? Does "welcome" mean freedom to break our laws and to intimidate and embarrass our residents?

The basic problem is that most of the fishermen are not residents of this community but are from other areas as far away as Detroit.

These people really couldn't care less about the beauty of Belleville Lake or how long it stays that way. They only come here because the fishing is convenient and FREE.

In actuality they fish at the resident's expense. This is why the residents are up in arms, and will continue to be until Van Buren Township and Belleville regularly enforce the posted signs.

The Golden Rule is an age old solution to person to person squabbles. It is especially effective in a two way situation, in a give and take situation, where all concerned are willing to cooperate for the public welfare.

Unfortunately, we are dealing with a one way situation.

These fishermen come to take our fish and leave. They give nothing in return...except trash and irritation to residents.

Why should these residents be ashamed, as the OPINION article suggested, when what they desire is the beauty to be maintained around Belleville Lake's bridges, along their approachways and in or near their neightborhoods?

They are justified to complain about the deterioration of the quality of the area in which they live.

There are plenty of places to fish along the shores of Belleville Lake without having to fish along the bridges and causeways.

This is a safety problem. When recreation gets in the way of the public welfare, then recreation has to take second place.

Many communities have spent thousands of dollars building public fishing piers and adjoining facilities. Somehow, Haggerty Road, Belleville Road and Denton Road bridges and causeways are considered as quality fishing piers competitive to all of those built for the purpose. These are not fishing piers, but are public highways and should remain so.

Thanks again.

Mom, Mom I'm in love

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The door slammed and racing feet took the stairs two at a time.

"Mom, Mom!" the young voice shouted through the house. "I'm in love! I'm desperately, totally in love!" And she threw herself across my bed, her long legs dangling over the side.

"You should see his bod! Oh, mom, I'm in love!" And she hugged herself for two seconds. Then leaping from the bed she rushed to the telephone.

"Michelle," she shrieked. "I'm in love. You should just see his bod."

The shriek from the other end of the telephone carried across the room and out the door into the hall where Uncle Gunnar, who lives with us, was trying to hide.

"Noisy," he muttered.

"Michelle, you should see him," the voice reverberated against the walls. "He's tall, and has thick dark hair, and you should see his tan in his red bathing suit."

The cry of ecstasy from the other end of the wire was enough to satisfy any girl in love.

The father of my children came in the back door and pulled out his chair. The lines in his face attested to his weariness and the way he looked at that chair was the same look he used to give me before he found out about chairs. Easing his long body down into its soft depths, he suddenly jerked upwards and a flash of intense pain crossed hi features as long legs and flying hair made a dive towards him.

"I'm in love, Dad! I'm ih love!" And she wrapped her arms about him and flopped him into the chair where she plunked down on his lap and sighed with happiness.

"Aren't you glad, Dad, that I've at last found love?" Her father grunted and leaned his head against the back of the chair and fell asleep.

"Oh for Pete's sake," she shouted and went out to find someone else to tell her love to.

The next two days were filled with suspense. No one was allowed out of the house if she were gone, lest her love call. No one was allowed to answer the telephone if she were in the house, least they say the wrong thing to this hunk of beautiful man.

And then he called.

The stars danced and the heavens rang with the joy of a teenager in love.

Each day for a week the object of her love called and tied up the telephone for thirteen hours, and then came the day that he asked her for a date.

The frenzy of the next 48 hours was frightful to behold. Uncle Gunnar was seen talking to himself, and her father hid in the closet in the den. She dragged me to every store in town where I spent a hundred dollars to make sure that she looked just right in the eyes of her beloved.

The fateful day arrivedd, and at 2:30 in the afternoon she locked herself in the bathroom where she stayed until 8:30.

"It's going to be worth it when you see her in her new clothes," I told her grumbling father who was trying to balance his checkbook.

The clock was chiming the quarter hour when she finally came down stairs...in her blue jeans.

"You paid one hundred bucks for that?" her father shouted.

"Oh dad, I felt dumb in those new clothes. You want me to be comfortable, don't you?" And she ran to the window and peeked through the curtains just as a long, red sports car pulled into the driveway.

"Oh, Mom, he's here. Oh, I'll bet I won't like him. I'll bet he's going to be a jerk. Oh no, look at him. Ugh. I'm going to have a lousy time....."

The doorbell raag and I pushed her to the door where she remembered her manners, but barely.

She was back by 10:30.

"He just didn't look the same with his clothes on," she explained to Michelle over the phone later that night.

"I hope she doesn't fall in love again for awhile," her father sobbed over his depleted check book.

On sludge editorial

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

The editorial opinion on July 2nd about building a fertilizer plant in Romulus is one that I must disagree with. I don't believe that anybody could be bought off and I don't believe that everyone can benefit by the Detro Recovery of Detroit's Plan to locate in Romulus.

I do agree that we should review, dissect and bisect every step before approval is given, however. I think the officials in Romulus should ask a number of serious questions before allowing sewage sludge to be transported into Romulus to be made into so-called "fertilizer".

I do believe the Romulus officials should be more concerned with housing development on a large scale, thereby increasing the population as opposed to making Romulus a residence of commercial and industrial development.

The Detro Recovery of Detroit also known by other names has put forth their plan to other communities and in every instance have sweetened their offer.

I think the minuses outweigh all the pluses that anyone can advance. The revenue will not be as great in my opinion as has been indicated.

The Romulus officials will supposedly give a tax break.

Detro has said to other communities in the Southeastern Michigan area that they may spend up to $7 million to $10 million to build their plant.

While jobs are a desire, I don't think the residents of Romulus would be willing to solicit this kind of employment and thereby change the complexion of the city of Romulus and decreasing residential development.

Handling of raw sewage sludge, whether it be from Detroit, Romulus or Ann Arbor or other surrounding communities, is one that requires constant surveillance and monitoring to insure the safety and welfare of the citizens.

I seriously question the claim made to make a beautifully, modern landscaped plant and I might point out the operations and functions of the chemical recovery system located on Van Born and the C&O RR tracks.

I think serious study should be made to consider the economic and population growth and as a resident of longstanding in Romulus, a community that was plagued by open landfills.

I would suggest that Mr. Hyle Carmichael be more concerned with trying to encourage more housing development than trying to encourage more industrial development. We have already lost a considerable number of acreage for residential development.

The local newspaper servicing Romulus has for many years encouraged the development within the confines of the city and the beautification and development of an orderly community.

I, for one, feel that this has not been done and make my exceptions to the encouragement of an operation that will be a detriment to the city.

I have requested the Department of Natural Resources to investigate the existing landfill known as Mendrek's Dump and to file charges under existing statues, if the conditions so warrant.

At this point I am not at all sure that there is a violation, but I am waiting for the department to complete their investigation.

I don't believe the Romulus officials should make rash and hasty decisions. I don't agree with the editorial encouraging a development of the Detro Recovery of Detroit to be of benefit to the city of Romulus. I would personally encourage the city to seek housing development and encourage this type of development within the city.

As you are well aware, we had extreme difficulty with chemical recovery system and I suspect we will have the same problems with Detro Recovery of Detroit.

Ask Carol Premo

Irritation causes problem

By CAROL PREMO, PhD.

DEAR CAROL,

Recently while on an outing with two close friends an incident occurred which has resulted in much discussion. Since no agreement has been reached, we decided to seek your opinion.

Mr two friends are married (to each other) and appear to be quite devoted.During the course of the day the woman did something (minor) which displeased the man. He raised his voice in an irritated manner and this made me feel very uncomfortable. Nothing was said at the time but I felt it was inappropriate to yell.

The woman didn't seem to care and everything went along as if it hadn't happened!

Later, that same day we got into a discussion about feelings and the expression of emotion. They are both professionals and feel that the overt expression is valid. I feel that it is childish and demonstrates a lack of control. What do you think?

Under Control

DEAR UNDER,

I would probably have to know more about this particular incident to give you an opinion in this situation, but I can make some comments about the expression of feelings.

Anger is a feeling and as such has as much validity as any of the other feelings, i.e., fear, happiness, anxiety.

Anger results from pain, either physical or emotional, either realized or feared.

For example, if someone were to kick you in the shins, the first feeling which you would experience would be pain. The physical pain of being kicked, the emotional pain of humiliation. The first feeling you might exhibit would be the defensive feeling of anger. Anger is also a very intense physical feeling (which I won't go into here) and if it is not adequately dealt with can cause depression.

This does not imply that temper tantrums or cruelty are permissable or that anger excuses antisocial behavior.

However, adults who can learn to express their anger in socially acceptable ways as opposed to denying it or pushing it down, will probably find themselves being far happier and healthier.

You tell me that your friends appear devoted to each other, might their open expression of feelings have anything to do with this?

DEAR CAROL,.. I don't have an earth shaking problem, but I do have a question I have not been able to get a straight answer on... When fishing, is it really mandatory to be absolutely silent and motionless? I really need to know as I am regularly being told this. In fact, one of my fishing companions went so far as to put masking tape on my mouth (not funny). Please answer soon.

Depending on your answer I will either take your column and cover it with plastic and display it in the boat or wrap fish in it.

Conversationalist

DEAR CONVERSATIONALIST,

Perhaps the answer to this perplexing problem is not as definitive as it is one of degree:. "Everything in moderation, nothing excess". Most obviously some movement and communication is necessary even among the most ardent of fisherpeople.

However, if there is an incessant stream of chatter, concentration can be broken, letting the "big one" get away. So, maybe the straight answer lies between the shinx and the magpie.

P.S. Just out of curiosity, did your companion chastise you after he-she lost one?

DEAR CAROL,

During the intermission of a concert I was attending, I noticed the zipper of a woman's dress was all the way down (I thought).

I was not sure whether to approach her or not. What do you think is the best thing to do in such a potentially embarrassing situation?

ZIPPER Noticer

DEAR ZIPPER NOTICER,

Approach her for goodness sake. I certainly would want to be told if my zipper were down. In view of new clothing styles your hesitantcy is appreciated but I think the kindness is worth the risk.

Bell to offer deaf special telecommunications device

The Bell System will provide customers who use special telecommunication devices for the deaf (TDD-TTY) a new service that features nationwide 24-hour operator services reached through a single toll-free access number.

By dialing a new toll-free number — 1-800-855-1155 — TDD users now can reach a special operator to help them with person-to-person, collect, credit card and third-number calls.

In addition, the deaf customer now will have 24-hour directory assistance service to obtain telephone numbers that are not in the local directory.

TDDs, which work on the same principle as telegraph and wire services, allow hearing and speech impaired people to communicate with one another over the telephone. A message is typed into a TDD at one end of a "conversation," transmitted over telephone lines, then printed out on a TDD at the other end of the connection.

TDD operator services will provide TDD users with the versatile services now used by other telephone customers. Particularly helped will be the deaf traveller who can place calls from public coin telephones and from hotels or motels that have dial telephones in their rooms.

The TDD operators also will help when the deaf caller reaches a recorded announcement or has other difficulties making a call.

This new service will be provided by Bell Telephone Companies from Bell locations in Boston, Philadelphia, Omaha and Oakland, and will be available to callers dialing from independend telephone company territories.

Joe Heil, AT & T's Assistant Manager of Services for Disabled Customers, said from New York that Bell System employees nationwide worked on preparing the new operator services program.

"Many people working at Bell Laboratories, Western Electric and in the Bell Telephone Companies pooled their skills and resources to see that the new service functions smoothly," Heil reported.

"A customer instruction booklet was prepared with the help of a number of deaf consumers and is being distributed by the Bell Telephone Companies assisted by local TDD groups," he continued.

Michigan TDD users — more than 1,000 statewide — can obtain the booklet by contacting Michigan Bell's TDD Customer Assistance Bureau toll-free at 1-800-482-3141. TDD customers also can call this number to get information on billing matters, additional services, rates and other telephone business.

"The Bell System is pleased to offer this new service which will provide TDD users many of the important services available to other customers," Heil said.

"We are indebted to TDD users, organizations representing deaf consumers and to many individuals who shared their knowledge and experience and helped us better understand the special communications needs of the TDD User."

ADC to receive help paying gas bills

The Voluntary Heating Fuel Budget Plan, designed to assist Wayne County Aid to Families with Dependent Children (ADC) households with paying heating costs, will be offered for the third year by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The program will be expanded this year to include eligible general assistance (GA) clients serviced by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Consumers Power Co.

Wayne County ADC recipients currently enrolled in the plan will be notified July 1 of the end of the current plan year and asked to indicate their desire to enroll in the 1980-81 plan which begins Sept. 1.

All potentially eligible ADC and GA recipients will receive applications for enrolling in the 1980-81 plan in August.

Under the plan, enrolled households pay the same amount each month for heating costs which are budgeted on a yearly basis.

For Michigan Consolidated customers, the amount budgeted for heating in the ADC grant is deducted from the check and paid directly to the utility.

For Consumers Power customers, clients receive a heating allowance check made out to both the recipient and the utility. The client must sign the 2-party check and forward it to Consumers Power within five days.

Michigan Department of Social Services pays up to $300 for past due heating bills owed by ADC and GA recipients as an encouragement to enroll in the VHF plan. MDSS also pays any difference between what was paid and the amount owed by the recipient at the end of the plan year.

In the event of overpayment to the utility, the ADC or GA recipient, as an incentive to save energy, receives the refund.

A final report on the plan's first year of operation estimates that $2.78 million was saved by the pilot project, launched in September 1978, in Wayne County only. The savings was realized largely because of the elimination of duplicate payments for heating fuel, resulting when clients got behind or did not pay their utility bills.

Emergency payments to Wayne County ADC clients to prevent shutoffs averaged about $170 per participant in fiscal year 1977-78, the year before the pilot program was launched.

The report also indicated that 50 percent of those ADC clients who were eligible signed up for the VHF plan.

Cellar-dwellers stun Westland softball queen

Upset scrambles Class A title race

Title hopefuls should always be wary of winless cellar dwellers.

And, Studio Lounge, a longtime prominent figure in the Westland Class A Women's Slo-Pitch League knows that to be a fact, but couldn't do anything about it last week.

Winless Alberta Thomas reminded the Studio Loungers that in sports you take nothing for granted as Alberta ended its season-long losing streak with an impressive 6-4 victory.

Barb Enoch notched her first win on the mound as she tossed a 12-hitter, giving up a homer and two RBIs to Wendy Reynolds and two hits each to Jackie Randall and Kathy Rogowski.

However, Alberta put four runs on the scoreboard in the second inning and came back for two more in the third, then hung on as Studio rallied for a couple of runs in both the fourth and second frames.

Loser Mary Trayner was tagged for seven hits, one of those was a key two-run single by Lisa Monaghan. JoAnne Wright collected two hits and Janine Krosky smacked a RBI single.

In another well-played game, Johnny's Shell scored a 5-1 victory over arch-rival, J & D Auto Roadrunners. Winning hurler Sue Chopp pitched a six-hitter. J & D's Judy Consineau and Rita Woods each had two hits.

Cousineau, the loser, gave up two hits each to Peggy Stevens, Ann Kolnitys and Debbie Gorshek. Ms. Kolnitys scored three of Johnny's five runs.

Jamie's won an 18-15 slugfest from Joe Thomas as losing pitcher Gary Bowman hammered two over-the-fence homers and singled. Bowman also accounted for six RBIs. Teammate Ray Fox also drove in three runs and split two homers and a pair of singles with Mark Mag.

Ken Landini led Jamie's hitting assault, drilling a pair over-the-fence and checking in with two other hits and six runs batted in to help Bob Hood post the victory.

Hood also received help from Chuck Copeland who had a circuit clout and two singles - good for three RBIs. Gerry Detter doubled and tripled and had two RBIs for the winners.

First Edition latched on to 29 hits - nine more than Dearborn Real Estate in a 23-12 victory over their Class A rivals. Winner Dennie Kesik had ample hitting help from Tim Kelly who clobbered two out-of-the-park home runs. Jim Khollman checked in with a roundtripper (over the fence), double and single, while mate Charlie Petrillo had four singles.

Jeff Carter was the losing pitcher. But he can't blame Steve Wilson Don Thomas or Mark McGill. Each had four hits.

Over in Women's Class B action, Rocco's needed a four-run sixth inning rally to pull out an 8-5 victory over a pesky Westland Lock & Key club. Both winning pitcher Cindy Mobley and loser Trina Awes delivered seven hits, but Rocco's Sue Khollman clubbed a homer and single - good for four runs batted in. Teammates Terri Sherman and Diane Canales also came up with key hits.

Mobley also gave up a four-bagger to Debbie Whitson, while Gay York carded a pair of singles.

The Jock Shop won an abbreviated 17-0 victory over Westland Sports as Mary Szmanski latched on to three hits, including a double. Sharon Hammerschmidt drilled a homer and double and had two RBIs, while Karen Wojewski carded a single and double off of loser Carol Mull.

Winner Rilla Thedford served up seven hits, three of those coming off the bat of Cindy Neal. Connie Bush

West has tourney rights

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

There is an elegance about Chris Babler that we have missed in these parts for some years. He can put errant columnists down with class.

We expected to hear from him when we noted a few weeks back that it was Garden City West rather than Romulus whom the "Big 3" - Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, and Cherry Hill had selected to replace Belleville in the annual Western Wayne Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Although we didn't say that West had an inferior cage team than Romulus, we apparently implied it. We wrote that the Big 3 was backing off when it came to picking good competition for the tourney.

Babler, who resides in Westland and has coached West teams for the past 13 years, delivered a strong argument that West, not Romulus, was the rightful heir to the tourney vacancy.

"For years now I have been talking to and with school officials at Wayne and Glenn in hopes that they would expand the holiday tournament to five or six teams," Babler explained. "And we were about to do this during the 1975 and 76 season when we were hit by a teachers' strike.

"The plans fell apart and we weren't able to get further than the talk stages after that," Babler continued. "But, I just want the readers to know that this - (West entering the tournament) isn't something of a spur of a moment thing.

"We have been wanting to get into this tournament for many years," Babler concluded.

Ironically, Babler won't be at the helm of the team that plays in the tournament. He said that he has resigned to accept a position as assistant principal at West High.

"It was a difficult decision for me to make," Babler added. "I love basketball, and as you know I have had some great teams and players. But this is an opportunity that I don't want to miss out on."

Indeed Babler has had some 'great ones'. Like his 1969-70 club, led by prep All-American Rick Drewitz who was the mainstay of a team that won 22 out of 23 games, losing only in the state semi-finals to Pontiac Central. Another one of Babler's great cagers is Dave Niles, an All-Stater who went on to play for the University of Detroit.

One of Babler's proteges, Gary Nustad, followed his mentor's steps and guided Clarkston into the semi-final rounds of the state Class A playoffs last year.

In a span of 13 years, there were many, many other West stand-outs, of course, but these three flash across our mind.

Although we have not covered Garden City sports for some time now, we welcome West back into the flock, even if it's just for the Christmas Holidays.

Watch for Lauber on the mats

Although he's not expected to arrive on the prep wrestling scene for another four years, watch for Charles Lauber, a 10-year-old grappler from Westland.

CHARLES LAUBER

Lauber, a member of the Michigan Dragons' Wrestling Club, came up with a couple of sterling performances at the AAU Great Lakes Zone Junior Olympics held in Indiana where he captured gold medals in the midget division in both the Greco and Freestyle competitions.

The 80-pound Westlander traveled to Jamestown, New York over the 4th of July Holidays to take part in the northeast zone of the Junior Olympics.

The results from the East have not reached this desk as yet.

But young Lauber is expected to go on to the Grand Nationals later this month in Lincoln, Nebraska.

One thing for sure, Lauber won't have to worry about American geography - he's seen more of the country in his 10 years than some of us see in a lifetime.

They kick like champs

Winning 11 of their 12 games while tying two, the Westland Hornets became the first Westland team to capture the Western Suburban Soccer League girls' soccer championship. The winning line-up included: Wendy Wagner (first row, from left), Bev Keith, Pinky Speights, Gina Clay, Cathy Tomel, Shiny Mapleton and Lynn Shelly; second row are Stacey Basmaji, Heather Hysko, Michele McCullen, Julie Hysko, Coach Bob Hysko, Michele Ruffino, Michele Sanchez and Julie Bettega. Not available at the time of the photo is team member Chris Horn. The Hornets' lone loss of the season was a 2-0 setback at the hands (and feet) of Troy in state competition. Beverly Keith also became eligible for the finals of the "Beat the Goalie" competition when she won in a preliminary match-up. She will be a finalist for the Aug. 28 game when the Detroit Express play Ft. Lauderale.

Will history repeat?

Wayne Post 111 making run for Legion baseball crown

Coach Norm Hoenes is hoping that recent history doesn't repeat.

Hoenes, who coaches Westland John Glenn's baseball squad, doubles as the Wayne Post 111 Legion club manager during the summer. And, during the prep season his Rockets were in the thick of the Northwest Suburban Conference title race until they fizzled in the stretch.

Manager Hoenes now finds his ball club very much alive in the Legion League title picture. At the halfway mark, Wayne has compiled an 8-5 record, second only to Allen park (8-3) in the 8-team league. The Legion teams play a 24-game schedule.

"If our pitching holds out, we'll be a factor," Hoenes said after Post 111 edged Dearborn Heights Stitt, 5-4 behind winning pitcher John Paz' five-hitter. "We're getting a hold of the ball, but we must get the pitching."

Paz needed some help in the fifth when he gave up all four runs. Mike Taig relieved him and pitched scoreless ball the rest of the game.

Wayne struck for three runs in the first inning on a walk to Vince Colarossi who scored on a hit-and-run play with Rich Jaskowski coming through with the base hit. Then, Joe Iquaniello was safe on an error, and after two were out, Taig doubled home both runners.

Jaskowski blasted an opposite field homer in the fifth, and Wayne scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth when Paz singled, was forced at second by Tony Dalimonte who stole second and scored on Toby Wright's infield grounder which was booted away.

Wayne lost ground on Allen Park by dropping a 12-8 decision to Taylor. Brian Hewitt was charged with the loss, while Wright accounted for two of the nine hits and scored twice.

Local fans can catch Wayne Post 111 in action on July 18 when they host Taylor at 6 p.m. at Westland John Glenn.

A.P.A. needs rally to beat Nemos

Captain Nemo's, a team that has floundered all season, came up with a sterling peformance against league-leading A.P.A., but unfortunately couldn't hang on.

Scoring six times in the first two innings, Nemo's 6-0 lead dissipated as A.P.A. rallied for a 12-7 victory to remain atop of the Romulus Women's Softball Class A League.

A.P.A.'s Maria Franklin had a perfect day at the plate, collecting five hits while teammates Cindy Robinson and Kim Pitts each chipped in three safeties.

In the meantime, third place Little Ceasar's (7-5) posted a rare 15-0 shutout over seventh place Suburban Oil as Karen Weber clubbed a homer, pair of doubles and a single. She also had five runs batted in.

Pitcher Jan Coleman came up with the first no-hitter of the season in Class A.

In a game called because of the time rule, Morgan Collison whipped Bilmar Market, 19-5, despite Dody Seese's excellent three-for four (two double and a single) at the plate. Morgan leaped on its rivals for seven runs in the first and second innings and breezed to their seventh victory in 12 starts.

Progressive Club and Mr. Robert's earned the distinction of playing the best all-around game of the week. The victory went to Progressive, 6-5. Heading into the bottom of the sixth, Robert's led 5-4, then Progressive Club countered with two runs to win the squeaker.

Rhoda Stokely ignited the rally when she reached first on an error, pitcher Candy Griffin then walked and Candy's sister, Cindy Griffin, laced a two-run double to left field to settle the issue.

Over in Class B, F.X. Coughlin

Ex-prep track stars look good

After outstanding prep track careers, former Garden City East High stars - Art and Kevin Kitze - apparently haven't lost their winning edge.

Art and Kevin turned in identical 9:42 performances to win the 2-mile run, one of several events staged Thursday by the Wayne Track Club.

Art Kitze picked up his second win of the evening by breezing to a 4:34 for the mile run. He also led brother, Kevin, across the finish line in the half-mile, posting a 2:06. Kevin's time was 2:08.

Anita Brown ran a 11:45 for the 2-mile, and Carol Pettit was clocked in 2:35 for the half-mile. Sharon Mellas hit the tape in 2:44.

Art and Kevin apparently decided to split the accolades for the three-mile run as they ran that distance in identical 14:53. Anita Brown finished in 18:05, followed by Laura Weyand (19:35).

In the 220-yard sprint, Carol Petit was the winner, followed by Mellas who finished with a 30.7 effort.

Vince Patterson, who was clocked in at 53 seconds, and Carol Petit who went the 440 in 60 seconds ran 1-2 for the quarter-mile.

The Wayne Track Club invites area athletes to take part in track & field events each Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m. Athletes should assemble at Wayne Memorial field.

2 teams duel for South title

The Royals continued to hold down first place in the Romulus Little League South Majors' Division, but that's because the A's have played one less game than the frontrunners.

The Royals have the top billing by virtue of a 12-4 record, one more victory than the A's who are breathing down the leader's necks with a 11-4 record.

The Royals managed to keep their slim lead thanks to a 2-1 victory over the second place club. Tony Yandura of the A's and Dave Bergman of the Royals were locked in a pitcher's duel for six innings when the Royals managed to score the decisive runs.

Yandura notched 16 strikeouts and walked two, while Bergman countered with 14 strikeouts and an equal number of bases on balls.

John Weddington's two-run homer was wasted as the Astros bowed to the A's 13-9 in another matchup. Dave Godwin picked up the decision and he received help from Yandura, Julian Cruze and Dave Godwin. Each had homers and Godwin finished up with a perfect four-for-four.

3 Wayne clubs continue unbeaten streaks

Three teams — the Bears, Astros and Orioles — have managed to stay perfect in the Wayne Junior Baseball Leagues this season.

The Astros are sporting a 7-0 record in the Ty Cobb Division while, in Class F, the Orioles have stretched their unbeaten string to 11 games and have a comfortable four games cushion over their nearest rival, the Twins.

Over in the Babe Ruth League, the Bears continue to roll as they have a string of five consecutive victories. The Bears had a couple of close calls last week, but managed to earn 3-2 and 4-3 victories over the Rams and the Wolverines respectively.

Winning pitcher David Day tossed struck out 13 and walked three in chalking up his third win of the season. Chuck Beaver doubled in the winning run.

James Nesbitt got two of the Rams' four hits while Kevin Kamin drilled a homer.

Against the Wolverines, Dave Jaskolski held off his rivals who scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to come within a couple of runs of posting an upset. The Wolverines collected seven hits off of Jaskolski, two each by Vojtokosfy, and Weber.

Losing pitcher Mark Genung went the distance, fanned seven, walked four in pitching a five-hitter.

the fourth inning to come-from-behind and beat the Lions 7-4. Shalin Boyer picked up the victory, giving up seven hits, notching six strikeouts while walking eight.

Jeff Shifford singled and tripled and drove in one of the Lions' four runs. The Bears' received a two-run single from Kevin Allen. Shifford wound up the loser, although he allowed only two hits. He walked eight, however.

Brian Armstrong earned the honor of setting a season strikeout record as the Lions' hurler fanned 17 in a 7-2 loss to the Bears. The Bears cashed in on four hits and nine walks to pick up their first win and snap a four-game losing streak.

fashioned a three-hitter, struck out nine and walked four in six innings of work. Bobby White tripled in a pair of runs for the winners.

The Bears came back with five runs in the fifth inning to whip the Rams 6-1 behind Anderson's six-hitter. Anderson got 10 batters on strikes, walked five in posting the victory.

The Rams' Kamin laced two singles and relieved loser Browzonwski who lasted 4 two-thirds innings.

Kevin Kamin fanned seven consecutive batters en route to a 11-2 victory over the Lions. The Rams' hurler allowed three hits, finished with 13 strikeouts to earn his second his cause with a single and a double.

Steve Wells, Kaitchuck each had two-baggers, while Poore checked in with a pair of singles.

The Wolverines rallied for six runs in the bottom of the sixth and scored four more in the seventh to edge the Rams 14-13 in their last outing. James Nesbitt drilled a homer and accounted for five runs batted in while Browzowski had a double and single.

Vojtkofsky, Blazer, Browe and Mark Genung each had two hits for the winners. It was Genung's double that drove in Browe which settled the issue.

Scoring in every inning [illegible] fourth, the Wolverines overp[illegible] teamed up for a three-hitter. The Wolverines also eked out an 8-7 victory over the Rams as Blazer tossed a seven-hitter. He whiffed 11 and walked six.

Browe homered and Weber collected a triple and a pair of doubles for the winners who got six hits off of loser Favazza.

Rams Steve Wells pounded a grand slam homer and singled, paving the way for five RBIs.

In the only other Babe Ruth game, the Lions overwhelmed the Wolverines 13-7 as Shifferd [illegible] remained the team to beat. And third place Jac's Lounge did just that. They upset the previously undefeated league-leader, 8-6. Coughlin's had its 10-game winning streak snapped as Cindy Brady led the assault with a pair of key hits and teammate Linda Lyon hammering a two-run homer.

Carolyn Ovellette and Dawn Goboly each had two hits for the losers.

In other action, Emery's Hustlers picked up their eighth victory in 11 starts at the expense of Dobb's House 11-2, while Dobb's was a no-show against Burcroff Furniture.

Emery gave Jac's a scare before yielding an unearned run scored by Linda Lyon, who singled to get aboard.

Dawn Goboly's three-run homer lifted Coughlin's to a close 8-7 victory over R.L. Coolsaet. Karen Pichan kept the losers in the game, collecting a pair of singles and a walk.

Coolsaet however was no match for Osburn Trucking which buried its rivals 15-1. Osburn got enough runs in the first inning to win this one thanks to Nan Kpkila, Diane Summerfield and Jeannie Zilka.

Margaret Ayers scattered five Coolsaet hits to chalk up the victory.

Upset

had two singles for the losers.

In another game called because of the time rule, Westland Sports came away with an 18-11 victory over Rowe Electric. Both teams put six runs on the board in the first inning, but Rowe took a 10-6 lead after two, and Westland replied with seven runs in the third and scored five more times in the fourth.

Beth Tenny had an excellent day at the plate off of loser Sharon Vreeland who gave up three RBIs, a homer and a pair of singles to the Westland slugger. Cathy Cameron and Rozanne Henke split four hits for the winners.

Tammie Bennett, Cindy Lesterson and Debbie Row each had two hits and two RBIs apiece for the losers.

Geanne's Gems exploded for six runs in the last of the sixth to edge Token Lounge 7-2. Joyce Forest scattered seven Token hits to earn the victory. Of those seven, JoAnn Rayborn had two and Becky Anderson drilled a two-run double.

June Evans was charged with the loss. She twirled a 11-hitter, giving up a three-run homer to Mary Haddus, a pair of singles to Jennifer McNulty and a single and double to Dawn Mueller, who also had two RBIs.

Scoring in every inning except the second, the Jock Shop destroyed B & E Sales 21-7 as Hammerschmidt knocked in seven runs on a homer, triple and a couple of singles. Debbie Svoboda had a pair of singles and a double, while Kathy Marshall got to loser Helen Rye for four hits.

Rye accounted for two of her team's five hits off of winner Rilla Thedford who also gave up a pair of singles to Juanita Wheelwright.

It's 'Go West, young lady' for Girl Scouts on July 31

A patrol of eight girls and two adults will depart July 31 for a Wyoming Trek at Girl Scout National Center West in Ten Sleep, Wyoming. Scheduled returns Aug. 21. Huron Valley's patrol is one of 10 to attend during this session. There are eight sessions during the summer.

DeWitt Wallace Reader's Digest Grants have been awarded to 22 Girl Scout councils, including Huron Valley, across the nation for this summer's Treks.

DeWitt Wallace and his wife, Lila Acheson Wallace, are co-founders of the Reader's Digest. In 1971, Wallace established a trust fund [illegible] one million dollars, then designated that the annual income be given to Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Because of his love of Wyoming and his interest in the Girl Scout program at National Center West, Wallace requested that this income be used to enable girls, who could not otherwise afford it, to attend Center West.

With the Center as a base camp, the Trekers will have boundless opportunity to share the varied resources of the site with girls from all over the United States. Program consultants will be on hand to help the girls organize an action packed stay. Archeology, backpacking, horseback riding, rodeos, ecology, hiking and photography are some of the activities available to the girls.

The grant requires work by patrol members on career exploration in audio-visuals, photography, and creative writing.

The Wyoming Trek patrol is composed of girls from across Huron Valley's membership. Ann Askew of Cadette Troop 538 in Belleville is one of the members. Ann has completed the eighth grade at North Junior High where she is in the marching and concert band. She is a Girl Advisory member of Huron Valley's Board of Directors, and a past resident camp participant.

Romulus resident, Karen Smith of Cadette Troop 262 Senior Patrol, has completed ninth grade at Huron High School. Karen is a member of the basketball, volleyball, baseball and track teams. She is also a Girl Advisory member of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Board of Directors.

Each patrol participating in a Wyoming Trek is accompanied by two advisors. Ann Scott of Willis has a long history of Girl Scout experience including troop leader, Troop Services Director, trainer, day camp director, troop camp with core staff director and much more.

Vicki Vargo of Southgate is a biology instructor at St. Mary's Academy, Monroe. Vargo is a bird watcher, a nature photographer and a figure skater. In addition, she has worked for two summers at Yellowstone National Park and was a girl member of Girl Scouts for a brief time.

The patrol has been meeting since early March getting to know each other, planning, practicing and developing skills for the trip. Travel to National Center West will be as a group by van.

This is the first time a patrol from Huron Valley has received a DeWitt Wallace Grant or participated in a Wyoming Trek.

[illegible] Fran O'Brien rated this fabulous strawberry dessert. [illegible] on the consumer panel that tests recipes for the California Strawberry Advisory Board as a part of her club's fund-raising activities. She and [illegible] family test and taste many recipes during the year, but she felt this delicious new twist on strawberry shortcake was in a class by itself. She marked it excellent in taste, texture, appearance and appetite and economy appeal. She even gave it the "O'Brien 5-star" award.

Of course, almost everyone likes strawberry shortcake. A recent consumer survey revealed that 90 percent of all the people in the United States eat strawberries, and that the favorite dessert using this juicy, delicious fruit is shortcake. Little wonder. It tastes as good as it looks — ruby-red strawberries cascading over mounds of whipped cream and flaky shortcake.

But move over, strawberry shortcake! This Heavenly Strawberry Torte raises strawberries to the heights of ecstasy with a trio of almond meringue circles layered with a luscious mixture of sliced strawberries, almond flavored liqueur and whipped cream. Cornstarch in the meringue makes the dessert [illegible] and serve. It easily makes 10 to 12 servings, so Fran rated it well [illegible].

Probably the most exciting way to enjoy strawberries is in glamorous desserts. But don't forget to serve this favorite berry often in salads, fruit compotes or simply by the bowlful. This is the peak season for strawberries when, in addition to great flavor and looks, they're also an excellent buy.

HEAVENLY STRAWBERRY TORTE

Almond Meringue Layers (recipe follows)
2 baskets fresh California strawberries
2 cups whipping cream
¼ cup almond-flavored liqueur or ½ teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon powdered sugar
1 tablespoon brown sugar

Prepare meringue layers. Stem and slice strawberries, reserving 6 whole strawberries for garnish. Whip cream to form soft peaks; gradually beat in liqueur and powdered sugar to form stiff peaks. Fold sliced strawberries into whipped cream. Place one Almond Meringue Layer on serving plate. Cover with one third of the strawberry mixture. Repeat with remaining meringue layers and strawberry mixture. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Garnish with reserved strawberries. Chill 1 to 2 hours. To serve, cut in wedges with sharp knife. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

ALMOND MERINGUE LAYERS

6 egg whites
¼ teaspoon each cream of tartar and almond extract
1½ cups sugar
½ cup each cornstarch and ground toasted almonds

In large bowl beat egg whites, cream of tartar and almond extract to form soft peaks. Add ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating constantly to form stiff peaks. Combine remaining sugar, cornstarch and almonds. Fold into egg white mixture to blend thoroughly. Generously butter and flour 3 baking sheets; mark 3 8-inch circles. Spread with spatula, or pipe one-third of egg white mixture on each circle to cover evenly. Bake in 250 degree oven 1½ hours. Turn off oven and leave layers in oven 1 hour longer. Remove from oven, lift layers from baking sheets and cool completely. (Layers may be securely wrapped and stored up to 2 days before assembling cake.) Makes 3 8-inch layers.

Patterson-Karznia wed

Couple honeymoon in Anaheim, Calif.

The newly wed Terry Matthew Pattersons winged their way to Anaheim, Calif. for a 10-day honeymoon following their marriage May 10 at the First Congregational Church of Wayne.

Debora Ann Karznia became Mrs. Patterson in a six o'clock ceremony conducted by Mr. Robert Millar before an altar graced with white fugi mums, gladiolas and tall lighted tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edward Karznia of 34538 Poplar, Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson of 1539 Flynn, Westland, are parents of the young couple who are now living in the bride's apartment at 233 Creekside Dr., Belleville.

Debbie selected for her wedding day a gown of white satin with long lace sleeves, a scoop neckline and chapel train. A little seed pearl cap held her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she completed her ensemble with a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and variegated ivy.

The bride and her father were preceded to the altar by Mrs. James (Brenda) Radley of Wayne, who was asked to be honor attendant, and the five bridesmaids: Kim Schwartz, Mrs. John (Ranea) Paiva, Mrs. Mike (Nadine) Pyne, Karen Karznia and Laura Karznia, all of Wayne.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY PATTERSON

Mrs. Radley's wine-colored gown was identical to the rose-colored frocks worn by the other attendants. Patterned with tiny roses, it featured a blouson bodice, scoop neckline and pleated skirt. The group tucked flowers in their hair and carried white baskets filled with roses to match their outfits.

Flowergirl was Sarah Crawford of Allen Park. She held a tiny white basket filled with blooms and wore a long white dotted swiss frock with wine-colored trim. Carrying out the duties of ringbearer was Jeff Patterson, the son of the John Pattersons of Westland, and a nephew of the bridegroom.

Best man was Rick Pittman of Westland. Others on the esquire side were Randy Pittman of Westland; Jim Radley of Wayne; Larry Kwiatkowski of Westland; Mike Majewski of Saline and Gray Mason of Westland.

Roma's of Garden City was the setting for the reception which followed. The 250 guests were greeted by Mrs. Karznia in a long pink chiffon gown and Mrs. Patterson in a lilac ensemble.

The newlyweds are both 1976 graduates of Wayne Memorial High School. The new Mrs. Patterson is now employed as a pharmacy technician at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and her husband works for General Motors in Ypsilanti.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner held at the home of the bride's parents on Polar Street May 9. Some 40 guests attended.

Learn cookout techniques

The outdoor grill has become a familiar symbol of summer in America. It also can be a challenge to the novice cookout chef who is responsible for selecting the meat for the grill and cooking it.

Actually, although a few new techniques need to be learned, many of the familiar rules for meat cookery apply outdoors as well as in, according to Retha M. Hankey, Michigan Beef Industry Commission. Meat should be cooked at a low to moderate temperature on the grill just as in the kitchen, since high heat makes meat less tender and juicy. For this reason, the wise outdoor cook waits until the coals are covered with gray ash, and has a spray bottle of water handy to put out flare-ups.

It is important to keep a careful check on meat during cooking. Total time will vary with cut, weather, fire or heat, position on grill and doneness desired. Use a meat thermometer to accurately determine the doneness of large cuts of beef cooked on the rotisserie. Steaks and burgers are turned and seasoned on each side after browning, not before, since salt retards browning. Use tongs rather than a fork to handle steaks to prevent loss of flavorful juices.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH J. SAVAGE

Newly wed Savages travel to Hawaii for honeymoon

A week-long honeymoon on the Hawaiian Islands of Oahu and Maui followed the May 31 marriage of Theresa Renke and Keith J. Savage, both of Romulus.

St. Aloysius Catholic Church was reserved for the afternoon wedding which joined the daughter of Raymond and Loretta Renke of 11452 St. Aloysius, Romulus, and the son of Harley and Jean Savage of 33951 Goddard, Romulus, in holy matrimony.

The Rev. John Budde presided at the double ring rite before some 150 relatives and friends. Ken Massey of Wayne was guitarist for the occasion.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride was gowned in luster-glo chiffon designed with a high lace collar above a silk illusion Venise lace bodice. Other styling details included clear bishop sleeves cuffed in lace and an A-line skirt flounced in lace which terminated in a chapel-length train.

She wore a fingertip veil trimmed with matching Venise lace and completed her ensemble with a bouquet of silk white and yellow roses and stephanotic tied with satin streamers.

Seaspray green frocks were worn by the bridal coterie which was headed by maid of honor, Joyce Sitarski of Romulus. Fashioned with scoopnecked blouson bodices, the qiana dresses had French-cut sleeves and were accented by a rose at the hip.

Bridesmaids were Lynn Renke, Mary Renke and Margaret Savage, all sisters of the bridal pair from Romulus. Junior bridesmaid was another sister, Mary Savage.

The quintet wore white baby's breath in their hair and carried bouquets of silk carnations and roses accented with matching ribbon.

The bridegroom asked his friend, Mike Kelly of Romulus, to serve as best man. The corps of ushers included Curt Savage of Detroit and Christopher Savage of Belleville, brothers of the bridegroom; Jim Moore of Taylor; another brother, Hal Savage of Romulus, and Paul Bryan of Romulus.

At the reception, which followed in the Burgundy Room of the Knights of Columbus Club in Wayne, Mrs. Renke greeted the 210 guests in a formal gown of pale blue qiana to which she pinned her corsage of double yellow carnations. A similar corsage in pink was worn by the bridegroom's mother who donned a pink floor-length qiana gown for the occasion.

A graduate of Central Michigan University, the new Mrs. Savage holds a bachelor of arts degree in health education. Her husband currently is attending Eastern Michigan University and pursuing a degree in computer science while employed by his father at Savage Hitch Shop in Romulus.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the Harley Savages, was held at the Prince and the Pauper in Wayne.

potpourri

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Last week's suggestion for washing plastic shower curtains -- one I'd clipped out of a "Heloise" column some years back -- brought comment (panicky comment) from two regular readers. And I can certainly understand their concern since we've been told never, never to mix bleach and ammonia.

BUT -- (1) because of the minute amount of each (about three ounces) and the large amount of water involved (a washer full) (2) because I've used this method successfully for years (3) because the mixture runs a full cycle including a complete rinse (4) because the lid or door is closed while the curtains are washing (5) because I didn't stop to think this might be upsetting to anyone, I went ahead and ran what I've found to be an excellent way to wash plastic.

I DID consult a local chemist and asked his opinion before sitting down to write this explanation and he said that because most women keep their machine lids or doors closed during a wash cycle and because they probably don't stand over the washer and because of the small doses of bleach and ammonia involved, there SHOULD be no repurcussions.

BUT -- for anyone who has a single doubt (and I concur) throw away the article if you clipped it out and DO avoid the mixture which CAN be lethal when used in open pails or containers and in smaller amounts of water.

Hopefully, this will put at least two very concerned readers at ease. "Potpourri" thanks them for caring enough to call!

Recent articles in the periodicals and dailies we receive have been pointing out the new (re-newed?) trend toward patriotism in our country and the sudden demand for American flags.

Ours, purchased years ago when some local organization had a fund-raiser and sold the banners, is getting to the point of retirement. Noticed its limp, somewhat faded facade this past holiday and realized it would not be seeing another July 4th.

The simplist way for us (or anyone else in the same situation) to replace it would be to order one through a fraternal or veteran's organization or perhaps a service club.

Since manufacturers are bewailing the fact the demand is greater than the supply, it would seem advantageous for some local group to take on a sure-fire fundraiser -- a flag sale. We'd be your first customer!

Summertime just doesn't seem to be the season for much reading around these parts what with longer hours out-of-doors (golf every chance we get) and seeing to necessities at other times.

But I DID get through a 512-pager recently, a novel by Hans Hellmut Kirst, one of Germany's most distinguished authors. This one, "The Officer Factory", was pretty off-beat for me but because of its Worldd War II setting in Nazi Germany, it sorta caught my fancy.

The death of an instructor in a German officers' training school which appears to be the result of a freak accident, has the commanding officer taking an unusual interest in the case. He turns the investigation over to a bright young lieutenant with many qualities unusual in a German officer who, in turn, employs tactics that unnerve his associates and expose character after character in a somewhat differently constructed novel.

Although the flyleaf promises "an accurate appraisal -- full of drama, witty repartee, and robust humor -- of the downfall of the Nazi regime," I found very little to laugh about and the whole thing far too drawn out. It DID make you sympathize with the central character, Lt. Kraftt, who attempts to expose the corruptions and deficiencies which were typical of too many of the officers who served the Third Reich.

Men would probably find "The Officer Factory" more interesting than women and particularly if they had any dealings with German officers during the '40's conflict.

Raleigh died in the reign of James when he started smoking.

Caesaer extinguished himself in the battle of Gaul.

An interval in music is the distance from one piano to the other.

From the American Dairy Association come a few suggestions for hot weeks of summer we still have ahead of us.

For a quick picnic, pick up fresh fruit, your favorite cheese and several cartons of yogurt in summery flavors.

Save milk cartons to rinse and refill with water. Freeze the cartons and be ready to nestle them along with cartons of milk and other dairy foods to take on cook-outs. The water will be handy for washing up after the ice melts.

Chilled soups are summery and easy when you use canned condensed ones combined with cold milk. Make them extra good by using yogurt or half-and-half as part of the liquid.

July beverage ideas: iced tea with a float of fruit sherbet, iced coffee with a dollop of whipped cream or iced apricot juice with a topping of orange ice cream.

Count on dairy fresh sour cream to dress up the canned tuna. Add chilled cooked green beans with crisp celery and scallions for an easy, yet hearty summer meal.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Middle age is an indefinite time in life that always starts years earlier for the other person.

Students at the Romulus school had been practicing hard for many weeks in preparation for the exciting event, according to Mrs. Gilkey.

The play, entitled "This Is Our America," was about a little girl named Peggy and her large collection of dolls from all over the world, Mrs. Gilkey said. One night the dolls come to life. They sing, dance, and speak to Peggy about patriotism. Each class member had one or more parts in the play.

The main character, Peggy, was played by Michelle Langdeau. Candi [illegible] closing the role of the Dutch doll, performed "The Dance of the Wooden Shoe." Leslie Trueman and Mickey Kreutzer danced the minuet.

Her A-line gown was fashioned of nylon chiffon with a flocked foral motif, a sweetheart neckline on a little lifted bodice, split capped sleeves and a flounced hemline.

Completing her bridal ensemble was a short double-tiered nylon tulle veil which fell from a headpiece of lace appliques and seed pearls.

Powder blue chiffon was worn by the bride's sister, Pamela Miller of Sioux Falls, S.D., as maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Carol Anne Noeyack of Romulus, the only bridesmaid.

MR. AND MRS. PETER C. HENNESSY

Boyne City ceremony joins Pete Hennessy, Chris Knysz

St. Matthew's Catholic Church in Boyne City was the setting May 31 for the wedding of Christina Ann Knysz and Peter C. Hennessy. Double ring vows and wedding bands were exchanged before The Rev. Dennis Stillwell in the presence of some 200 relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Ann Knysz of 2974C Addis Rd., Boyne City, formerly of Belleville, and the late Peter Knysz Sr. Parents of the bridegroom are Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Hennessy of 2128 Melrose, Ann Arbor.

Window and altar decorations included lighted votive candles encircled with daisy wreaths, two arrangements of white gladiolas, snapdragons, daisies and baby's breath and a number of bouquets of lilacs.

A former gospel singer from Sumpter, Earnie Mendell of Petoskey, sang and accompanied himself on the guitar. Numbers included "Morning Has Broken", "I Believe", "Amazing Grace" and "How Great Thou Art".

Lisa Pierson, 14 played the processional and recessional.

John F Knysz of Canton escorted his sister to the sanctuary. Holding a bouquet of carnations, daisies and baby's breath, she was gowned in polyester selesta chiffon with a high neck of silk Venise lace, yoked bodice with shirred lace trim and long, fitted sleeves with flounced cuffs. The skirt was sunburst pleated with a shirred lace flounced hemline.

She wore a lace-trimmed wide brimmed hat to complete her wedding ensemble.

Janet Knysz of Freemont was her sister-in-law's honor attendant in a seafoam green polyester selesta gown with a pleated skirt and chiffon cape to match. Tied with green streamers, her bouquet was comprised of daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical outfits were Cathy Bartreau of Boyne Falls; Vickie Hamilin of Boyne City; Ruth Ann Knysz, the bride's sister; Vickie Hennessy of Ann Arbor, and Bonnie Dingman and Linda Conrad, both of Belleville.

The bridegroom asked Larry Duvall of Ann Arbor to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Alan Hennessy and Steve Knysz, brothers of the bridal pair; Greg Granbeau of Ann Arbor; Mark Debbink of Grand Rapids; Bill Schorger of Colorado and John Sivacek of Dewitt.

Six-year-old Kelly Marie Knysz was her aunt's flowergirl in a spring print frock sashed with yellow ribbon. The little white basket she held was filled with yellow silk daisies. She was accompanied down the aisle by her 3-year-old brother, Jeffery Michael, who carried the rings on a lace-trimmed satin pillow made by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Knysz wore for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of candlelight yellow chiffon while the bridegroom's mother donned an ivory floor-length gown. Both were honored with corsages of pink and white carnations.

A reception at the Kandahar Barn in Elmira followed after which the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon on Little Trout Island which belongs to the bridegroom's parents. After a week they returned to Boyne City to take up residence on Pleasant Avenue.

A graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Hennessy attended North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. She was employed at Boyne Mountain for three years and at the present time is working for Northwest Michigan Human Services in Petoskey.

Her husband graduated from Ann Arbor Huron High School and is a graduate of Great Lakes Maritime Academy in Traverse City holding the rank of first class pilot.

REUNION HELD

Members of Sumpter's Januszyk family got together recently for a reunion at the home of Alex and Doris Januszyk of Sumpter Road.

The group included four sisters: Mary Motowski and Katherine Dapsi, both of Riverview; Jennie Sliwa and her husband, Stan, and Helen Pietrzak and her husband, Stan, all of Belleville, and the two brothers, John Januszyk and his wife, Clara, and the host couple.

With their respective children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, the group enjoyed talk of old times and catching up on each others' families. Doris Januszyk's sister, Doris Herbert, was also present, being here from England for a month's stay.

In the evening they all took part in the Strawberry Festival at St. Anthony's.

10TH ANNIVERSARY BASH

Bill and Mary Ann Emerson had their invitations out early in the year to whose who'd been attendants in their June, 1970 wedding -- asking that they please reserve the afternoon of June 28 for a post-post wedding get-together.

And all but two of their 10 ushers and bridesmaids showed up for the potluck bash at their home on Martinsville Road.

Making the trip from out of state were Pete and Luanne (Smith) Schoenfeld of Evanston, Ill. Others were Dick and Grace Sietz of Trenton; Rick and Mindy Emerson and son, Michael, of Lansing; Al and Kathleen Bodary of Flat Rock; Bill and Michelle Smith of East Lansing; Craig and Judy Burchett of Royal Oak and Carol Sobecki, of Belleville.

Each couple was requested to bring along pictures of their own weddings and those of their children and circulating the photos made for much interesting "comment".

Also invited to share in the festivities were the celebrating couple's parents, Joe and Helen Sietz and Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson and his wife, Marge; Pete and Lynn Foster, Jack and Rosemary Loria and Bob and Sue Pawlowski, all of Belleville.

Other members of the Emerson clan, who chanced to be in town at the time, were Bob and Patti Groeschner with Kari and Mark from Norwalk, Conn. and Sam and Sue Emerson and their two, Matthew and Sarah, from Ft. Ord, Calif.

A week earlier, Bill and Mary Ann had returned from their second honeymoon -- a week-long cruise on the MS Song of Norway which had taken them to the ports of San Juan, St. Thomas and Puerto Plata. So there were the interesting details of their trip to also add to the conversation.

'Puckery' skin needs special care

Love to spend lots of time in the water, but hate that "puckered" look that comes from water logged skin?

A professional swimming instructor has some advice for you — and it is advice that appeals to one's good health as well as to one's vanity.

"When skin is exposed to anything — sun, wind, water — for long periods of time, it needs special protection," says Alexander Szuklis. "When it comes to water, the best thing you can do for your skin is to apply a moisture barrier like baby cream.

"The baby cream stays on the skin well and helps protect the skin from getting puckery. The emollients in baby cream resist moisture penetration — in fact, water rolls right off."

Szuklis, owner of Manhattan Swimming School, says that since virtually all pools are chlorine treated, the subject of swimmer's skin protection has become very important.

"Chlorine is a drying agent and can cause itching as well. But baby cream sets up a barrier on the skin that acts as a wall of protection between skin and wetness."

Szuklis says that applying a light film of baby cream after toweling off can help your skin continue to look healthy and supple, no matter how much time you spent in the water.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. CONWAY

Jim Conway, Lynn Simonds exchange vows in Romulus

Candlelight set the mood June 21 for the double ring rite which joined Lynn A. Simonds and James E Conway in marriage. The bridegroom's uncle, The Rev. Donald Guertin, conducted the ceremony at St Aloysius Catholic Church before some 200 assembled guests.

Music was provided by Toni Simonds and Dennis Stevanus of Saginaw.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin W. Simonds of Sunrise Lane, Belleville, the bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she selected a gown of imported ivory French lace embellished with seed pearls. A portrait neckline and full-length bell sleeves formed the little fitted bodice with an accordion pleated skirt drifting into a chapel train.

Designed and made by her mother, her veil of silk illusion fell to cathedral length from a little lace cap.

Completing her bridal finery were a strand of pearls belonging to her Grandmother Simonds and a bouquet of miniature orchids, stephanotis baby's breath and ivy.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were five attendants in mauve qiana gowns designed and made by the bride. Fashioned with overlays of ribboned sheer on the bodices, their frocks were complimented by nosegays of silk flowers in various shades of pink.

Mrs. Diane Simonds of Williamston was honor attendant for her sister-in-law and bridesmaids were Toni Simonds of Belleville, a sister; Lu Ann Hudson, of Pontiac, a cousin; Betty Joe Holbrook of Romulus and Betty Haywood of Ypsilanti.

The bevy of flowergirls included Jennifer Shafer of Howell; Elizabeth Simonds of Williamston; Wendy and Becki Conway of Canton; Carolyn Conway of Madison Heights, and Mary Beth Weber of Lincoln Park.

They wore mauve empire frocks, garlands of flowers in their hair and carried baskets of rose petals to strew along the aisle.

The son of Mrs. Martha Conway of Taylor, the bridegroom asked Joseph Conway to be best man. Groomsmen were Phillip Simonds of Williamston; Thomas Tanciar of Taylor; Richard Conway of Lincoln Park and Jack Glaab of Romulus.

A reception for some 300 guests was held at the Hilton Airport Inn of Romulus. Mrs. Simonds greeted relatives and friends in a full-length grey figured silk gown to which she added white catalya orchids. Orchids also accented the formal turquoise patterned crepe de chene gown which Mrs. Conway wore for her son's wedding.

Prior to taking up residence at 11506 St. Aloysius, Romulus, the newlyweds spent a week honeymooning in the Upper Peninsula, Mackinac Island, Toronto and Niagara Falls.

A 1971 graduate of Bridgeport High School, the new Mrs. Conway holds a fine arts degree from Wayne State University. An alumnus of Aquinas High School's class of 1971 who has an associate degree in drafting from Henry Ford Community College, the bridegroom is now employed at Masco Corporation in Taylor.

Mrs. Martha Conway was hostess at the rehearsal dinner held at the home of the bride's parents on Sunrise Lane.

Welcome to Romulus

Red carpet treatment planned for GOP delegates

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

"Nowhere does it say that a banner can't be on an overpass," Jay Young told the Wayne County Road Commission representative on the other end of the line. "We want our sign at the first bridge the delegates come to."

Young, Romulus' goodwill ambassador, wasn't about to be talked out of hanging the "Welcome to Romulus" banner at a strategic location for all Republican convention delegates to observe. The red, white and blue welcome measures 40 feet in length and is three feet wide.

"About 90 percent of the GOP delegates will fly into Metro Airport," he explained. "Most of them will travel on I-94. Our banner will go over some exit for them to see if we have to hold it."

The banner symbolizes but one gesture of hospitality to be offered next week by the city of Romulus and the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, as some 300 delegates and influential Republicans, including Gov. William Milliken, will be staying in Romulus during the convention. Delegations from Michigan, Alaska, Guam and Puerto Rico along with various media personnel will be lodged at various motels near the airport, starting this weekend.

Each delegate will receive a kit of information, local area maps and several specialty items from local merchants (pen-pencil sets, key chains, etc.).

"It'll be new material for the delegates, mostly dealing with the city of Romulus," said Young, the community's public information officer. "A community directory will be included that was donated by the Progressive Club.

"We will have a hospitality suite open every day at the Holiday Inn," he added. "There will be refreshments and a place where the delegates can relax after a day at the convention. This was possible through contributions from service clubs."

Next week's activities will not catch Young and Pete Bergeron, community affairs chairman for the Romulus chamber, unprepared. For nearly a year they have represented the city at Civic Host Committee meetings, becoming involved in the grass roots planning for the GOP event.

"We actually beat the Civic Host Committee in getting organized for a first meeting at city hall," Young noted. "We had a city council resolution to welcome the delegates to Romulus and no budget. The Host Committee has around 3000 volunteers and a half million dollar budget.

"But we're ready to leave all visitors with a good impression of our city," he continued. "Our volunteers will provide babysitting and transportation services, printing if necessary, whatever the delegates might need."

"Romulus workers have also been picked to man the information booths at the airport and the motels."

Why is Romulus, a city of some 28,000 residents and 36 square miles, going all out to impress the Republicans?

According to Bergeron, a chamber board of directors member, the visit "could spur industry for Romulus someday."

"We want them to know that Romulus is a concerned community with some nice people living there."

Romulus has more than 60 percent of its land available for commercial and industrial development, Young pointed out.

"Let's face it," he said, "the Michigan delegates probably won't come back here for entertainment or a vacation. But they can go back to their communities with a genuine interest in the potential of Romulus in terms of land and resources."

And they can return home with a good feeling about old-fashioned hospitality.

Romulus officials are in a hospitable mood.

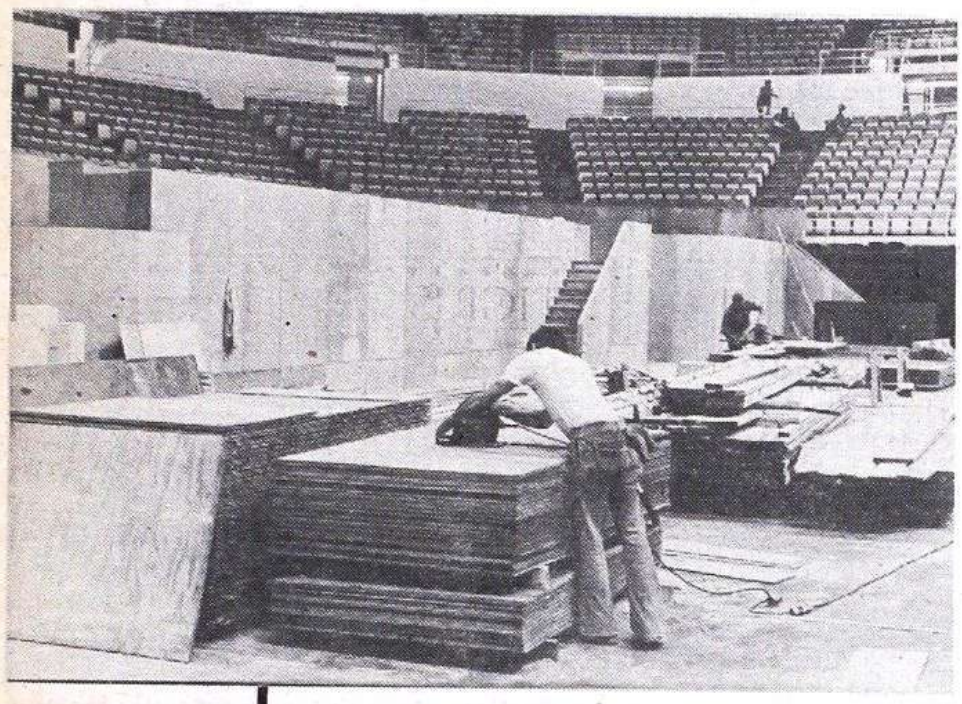
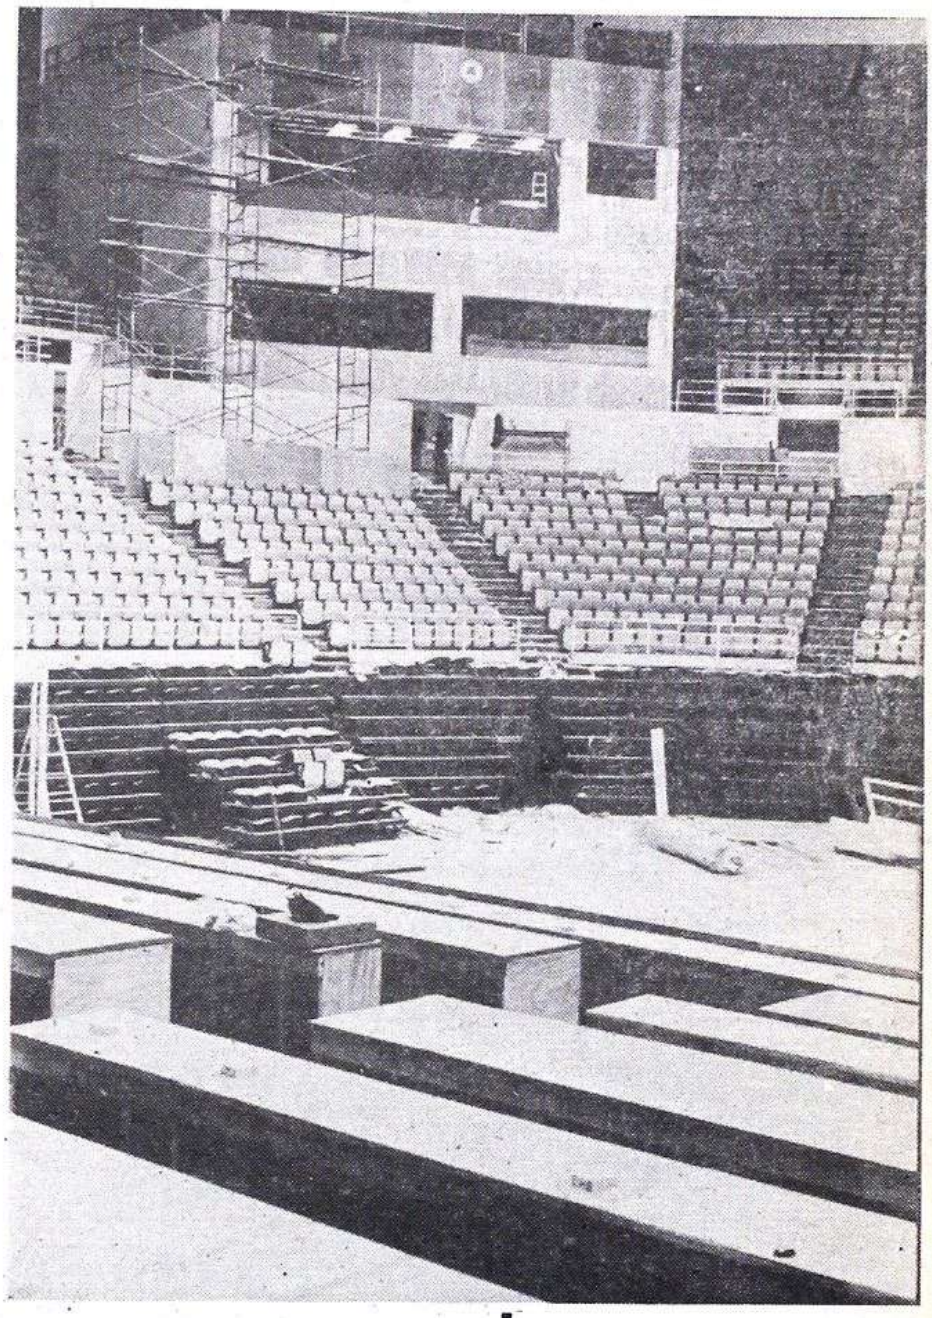
Yes, the Republicans are coming to town





Work, work, work

Four historic days in July. That's what work crews are gearing for as they labor around the clock preparing the Joe Louis Arena and Cobo Hall for the GOP Convention, which opens Monday. They're getting the site (approximately 100,000 square feet) ready for some 1,994 Republican delegates and an equal number of alternates.

Specially built studios will house approximately 8,000 radio, television and newspaper media representatives covering one of the biggest news stories of the year. Before its done, an estimated 50 million dollars will be spent during those four days.

Hart Plaza typifies Detroit's Renaissance

People are coming back to downtown Detroit. Recent crowds at the Spirit of Detroit Regatta and Freedom Festival fireworks have confirmed what boosters of Detroit have been telling us for a long time—Detroit is a vibrant, exciting city.

A central focus on this Renaissance has been the development of Phillip A Hart Plaza. Named for the late U.S. senator from Michigan, it is nestled between Ford Auditorium on the east, the Detroit River on the south, Veterans Memorial Building on the west and Jefferson Avenue on the North.

The site covers approximately 10 acres. Underground there is an additional 3.2 acres of development. The Plaza's exposed concrete areas are covered with granite, which covers an estimated 250,000 square feet of the Plaza floor.

The most striking structures located in Hart Plaza are the Pylon and the Dodge Memorial Fountain. The Pylon is a modern work of art created by designer Isamu Noguchi. The Dodge Fountain is capable of sending over one million gallons of water per hour into the air in various configurations through its 300 plus nozzles and jets.

In addition to these magnificent structures, there is also an Amphitheatre with seating for 800 people. During the summer months it is used as a stage for musical programs and festivals. During the winter months it is transformed into an artificial outdoor ice skating rink.

On the lower level of the Plaza there are accessory rooms for the ice skating rink, including locker rooms, dressing rooms, warming room and skate sharpening and rental areas. Next to the rink is the Down Under Restaurant and cocktail lounge, both glass walled for a full view of the ice rink-amphitheatre floor.

The most familiar programs at the Hart Plaza are the Ethnic Festivals. These festivals have outgrown three previous locations in downtown Detroit and have attracted over four million people each year to sample foods, entertainment and learn about various ethnic communities in the metropolitan area.

For your information, we have listed the remaining festivals for the 1980 season.

July 18, 19, 20	Captive Nations Ethnic Festival
July 25, 26, 27	Afro-American Ethnic Festival
August 1, 2, 3	Scandinavian Ethnic Festival
August 8, 9, 10	Polish Ethnic Festival
August 15, 16, 17	Ukrainian Ethnic Festival
August 22, 23, 24	Arab World Ethnic Festival
September 5, 6, 7	Festival of India
September 12, 13, 14	Mexican Ethnic Festival
September 19, 20, 21	Blues Festival
September 26, 27, 28	Oktoberfest

The festivals officially open at 6 p.m. on Friday. Hours on Saturday are 12 noon - 12 midnight and on Sunday from 12 noon - 10 p.m.

Fleet review planned for convention delegates

The "boat people of Detroit" have been invited to welcome delegates to the 1980 Republican Convention on Sunday with a massive review of more than 500 boats that will parade down the Detroit River past Hart Plaza in the midst of the city's Convention Center.

Detroit's "boat people" are the owners and crews of the quarter million private boats registered in the Detroit area, the largest fleet of privately owned recreational vessels in the United States.

The "Welcome to Detroit Fleet Review" will include private, commercial and military craft, ranging in size from 14-foot runabouts to a 600-foot Great Lakes ore boat. The review, which will begin at 3 p.m., will be led by the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Bristol Bay.

The procession will include a "Parade of States" by 52 sailboats from the local chapter of the National Catalina 27 Association. Each boat will fly the colors of one of the 52 states and territories represented at the GOP convention, parading in the order in which the state or territory they represent was admitted to the union.

Invitations have been sent to 40 yacht and boat clubs in the Greater Detroit and Windsor area, as well as to the U.S. Coast Guard, tug boat companies, the Detroit police and fire departments and ore boat operators.

The event, organized under the auspices of the Civic Host Committee for the Republican National Convention, will highlight one of Detroit's greatest physical assets, its waterfront.

Judges for the event will include representatives of the national news media covering the convention. Boats will be judged for their decorations based on originality, creativity and adherence to the theme, "Detroit Is The Best." Winning boats will receive commemorative plaques.

Joining the judges on the reviewing stand at Hart Plaza will be grand marshals Mayor Coleman Young, Max Fisher, chairman of Detroit Renaissance, Inc. and vice chairman of the Civic Host Committee, and Adm. Anthony Fugaro, commander of the Ninth Coast Guard District.

The review will begin at the west end of Belle Isle and proceed past the Renaissance Center, Hart Plaza and Cobo Hall, then cross to the Windsor side of the river and return upriver to the Windsor Yacht Club.

To direct the boaters and maintain order on the river, vessels of the Grosse Pointe and Detroit Power Squadrons will be "federalized" by the Coast Guard. The private boats will carry Coast Guard flags and officers and will provide additional supervision, along with Coast Guard auxiliary and police boats.

GOP delegate will again feel 'very patriotic'

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

If next week's Republican National Convention is anything like the 1976 GOP gathering in Kansas City, Deloris Newell will (A) feel very patriotic and (B) lose some weight.

"Walking onto the convention floor was one of the most exciting moments of my life," declared Mrs. Newell, a Ronald Reagan delegate in 1976 and again this year. "You feel very patriotic, very American. Everywhere you look there's red, white and blue.

"It's not all fun and games," the Westland resident added. "Four years ago I lost eight pounds because I rarely ate anything. There was always some caucus to go to and those lights are hot on the convention floor."

Her second trip to a GOP convention will be closer to home but no less hectic. Along with husband Jay, she will co-host an information booth at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn in addition to delegate responsibilities.

"Four years ago the excitement was over the candidates," explained Mrs. Newell. "This time the highlights are the vice-president and the issues. And there's an added excitement of hosting the convention in our city."

A typical day during the convention will find Mrs. Newell at the Hyatt Regency before 8 a.m. setting up the information booth for volunteers. Then it'll be back to the airport Holiday Inn (one of the Michigan delegation headquarters) to catch a 10 a.m. but for the convention.

In mid-afternoon the delegate will read up on any pertinent convention information, attend receptions and make another trip to the Hyatt before heading back downtown for evening sessions.

"It's exciting to see so many people come together from all walks of life and different parts of the country," the Westland delegate commented. "Everyone's different but still with the same main goal.

"Delegates exchange a lot of ideas. They mostly talk politics — there's not many personal subjects discussed.

"In 1976 I was for Reagan because I believed he was the only one who could beat Carter. I don't agree with him on all the issues but I still believe he's a winner."

A member of the 15th District executive Congressional board and the Republican State Central committee, Mrs. Newell is the director for the Westland Information Service Extention (WISE). She also attends Wayne County Community College and serves as the vice chairman of the Westland Zoning Board of Appeals.

"I enjoy politics," said Mrs. Newell, the mother of three. "It's been a hobby of mine for about 12 years.

"As a delegate I'm receiving quite a bit of literature about the issues," she added. "Most of it is from special interest groups. And there's all types of invitations to receptions."

All part of the excitement of a national happening.

Chicken barbeque is always a big draw.

Romulus merchants prepare for sales

"Romulus Days", Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19, will be highlighted by two days of bargain sidewalk sales by local merchants and will culminate in a street dance on the last day of the event.

Sponsored by the Romulus Central Business District Association, the annual sidewalk sales will be held on Goddard Road, between Shook and Sterling streets, in downtown Romulus.

Local merchants will be joined by city residents who will have a variety of wares, goods and antiques for sale to what sponsors hope will be a sizable outpouring of shoppers.

Food and drink, including beer, will be available for one and all. Children will be able to witness and take part in special entertainment activities.

The Romulus Rotary Club again will hold its annual chicken barbeque at Kennedy Park, near Five Points, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, July 19.

Cost of the barbeque dinner will be $3 and will include a half chicken, beans, cole slaw, potato chips, and a soft drink, coffee or tea.

Climax of the two-day Romulus Days will be a street dance beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 19. Music for dancing will be provided by the "Michigan Countrymen".

Tickets for the Romulus Days chicken barbeque may be purchased from Rotary Club members or from downtown merchants.

Czech festival set

Wyandotte's Yack Memorial Arena will be the site of the third annual Czechoslovak-American Festival this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

This gala event, sponsored by Sokol Detroit and Sokol Detroit Ladies Auxiliary, will offer a sampling of authentic Czechoslovak folklore and culture.

Included in the festival features will be continuous polka, waltz and czardas dance music performed by five orchestras from Michigan, Ohio and Nebraska. Sokol gymnasts will perform various vaulting, hand balancing and calisthenics routines.

An import bazaar will feature many Czechoslovak artifacts and Bohemian crystal. An array of Czechoslovak foods, pastries and beverages will be provided and a special midway of games is designed to delight young children.

Festival hours are Friday, 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.; Saturday, 4 p.m.-1 a.m., and Sunday, 2 p.m.-10 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens and no charge for children 12 and under when accompanied by an adult.

Free admission will be given to all who wear an authentic Czechoslovak nation costume on Sunday.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

The Rolling Stones come back strong

THE ROLLING STONES
"Emotional Rescue"
(Rolling Stone Records)

"Some Girls," the Rolling Stones' last album, was the breath of fresh air the band needed to maintain their lofty place in rock'n'roll's hierarchy. Just when they appeared on the verge of devolving into mere parodies of their former selves, they came back strong. And I'm happy to say "Emotional Rescue" is more of the same.

Although not quite as shattering as its predecessor, the new Stones' LP is still a fine example of what a rock album should be, and more importantly, it is proof that these old men haven't dried up creatively. Chock full of fresh ideas and using new (as in waves) influences as well as old, "Emotional Rescue" comes through any way you look at it.

Opening with "Dance," the first of two disco-ish numbers on the album, the Stones soon settle down to some earthy rock'n'roll as "Summer Romance" blasts out Jagger's undisguised intentions ("It's over now/It's a summer romance..."). No one's ever accused Mick of being a romantic...I wonder why?

Ska influences are evident in the shuffling "Send It To Me," a tune which bears more than a little resemblance to the infamous title cut of "Some Girls," but I doubt the Rev. Jesse Jackson will be offended this time around. The slide guitar on "Indian Girl" adds a country feel a la "Wild Horses," and it's without a doubt one of the most beautiful additions to the Jagger/Richards songbook in years. Add the "Emotional Rescue" single and Ron Wood's Dylan-ish vacal on "All About You" and you've got a pretty good outline of the album. But the meat lies elsewhere...

Two songs, and therein lies the real essence of the LP, as well as the reason for the Rolling Stones' continued success: simplicity. "Where The Boys Go" and the irresistible "She's So Cold" are simply in riff, lyric, and feel, and it's the latter that really counts.

Jagger can sing as if he's still a teenager because he is one, in spirit anyway. Keith Richards is still the King of the Chuck Berry riff, and relative newcomer Ronnie Wood is heir apparent to the throne. And of course, the rhythm section of Bill Wyman and Charlie Watts is still the finest in the genre. But the thing is, all of that wouldn't mean a damn thing were the Stones not only willing, but eager to wallow in the musical mire of the young, foresaking the snobbishness afforded their position.

Regardless of what ex-Sex Pistol Johnny Rotten said about the Stones, Jagger and the band listened to and paid attention to the new music that started with the Pistols. If they hadn't, I'm afraid they'd now be nothing more than just another rock'n'roll band, and I can't imagine that.

So after fifteen-plus years the Rolling Stones are still making vital, exciting rock music. That in itself is enough reason to pick up the album, but there is a better one: it's really good. And look for "She's So Cold" to become an anthem-of-sorts in the same fashion "Shattered" did last time around. "Emotional Rescue" may not live up to all expectations, but then again, noone else sets expectations as high as the Stones do.

CHEECH AND CHONG
"Let's Make A New Dope Deal"
(Warner Bros.)

Remember when Cheech and Chong were funny? It's not easy, because it's been a long, long time. This abysmal work simply retreads material they've retreaded in the fast and no, the third time does not work like a charm. "Queer Wars," "Disco Disco," "Dork Radio"...the titles promise nothing and deliver even less.

Since it's vital for this type of comedy to be street real, it's fairly obvious that age has become a factor in its failure to work any longer for Cheech and Chong. I'm not saying that they're too old, but rather that we've outgrown them. I hate to say it, but it's stuff like this that makes a pretty good case for paraquat...

Emotional Rescue's different look.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Trout fishermen can use 'natural lures'

Trout fishermen who prefer to use live bait have a wealth of lures available during the summer—and most of them can be obtained free of charge and with little effort.

I'm talking about "naturals"—grasshoppers, crickets, aquatic insects, crayfish and various other types of creepy, crawling critters. And the best part is, there's a seemingly endless supply. If you run out of bait while streamside, just spend a few minutes in the brush along the river and you can usually gather an ample supply.

In the spring after ice-out and runoff, a trout's diet consists mainly of earthworms. This is because the cold weather hasn't yet permitted any insect hatches to occur, and minnows and crayfish are still sluggish and aren't moving around.

Earthworms, on the other hand, are always present and are constantly falling into the stream because the ground is soft and the high, fast water is continuously wearing away the banks. This early in the year, worms comprise 90 percent of a trout's intake of food.

However, as weather conditions change and the air and water warm, other forms of food become available and a trout's appetite changes. Now worms make up only 10 percent of their diet.

It's apparent that a trout fisherman must change his preference for live baits with the changing conditions.

Basically, I'm talking about three separate food groups—the terrestrials, which include grasshoppers, crickets and the like; aquatics, such as minnows and crayfish; and, for lack of a better term, the "emergents," which include insects that hatch in the warm and later emerge into flying insects, like the mayflies. These bugs, if you're lucky enough to find them in the stream in their nymphal forms, can provide some hot and heavy fishing action.

There is, and always, has been, a problem in using aquatics for trout in small streams. Michigan laws permit a fisherman to remove aquatics from streams, but only for use as bait in the stream from which they are taken.

And, if you stop at a bait shop en route to your favorite stream, you're not supposed to dump the contents of the bait bucket into the water at the end of the day unless the bait is already found naturally in that particular stream.

But the terrestrials present no problem whatsoever—except when actually presenting them to hungry trout. But there are a few tricks that can help to cure these problems.

First, use the smallest and thinnest hooks possible for the insect. For hoppers and crickets, a No. 12 to 16 hook is usually adequate. And remember that when a bug falls onto the water, it floats. Sometimes just the weight of the hook will cause your bait to sink and therefore appear unnatural to the wary trout.

You can get around this by using a clear plastic casting bubble that most anglers use when casting artificial flies with a spinning outfit. Or, you may want to carry a hypodermic needle to inject a tiny bubble of air into your bait to enable it to float and thus appear natural.

It goes without saying that it's absolutely essential to use an ultralight rig and very light line. In some instances, four-pound test may be too heavy.

Do not use any weight and always fish downstream to allow the current to carry your offering over fishy-looking spots. Avoid, as much as possible, casting a live terrestrial. They are fragile and you'll lose more bait to the wind than you will to the fish.

Sandy's Marina on the shores of Belleville Lake is now offering a guide service on the lake for bass and walleye anglers. Gil Gillespie, owner and operator of Sandy's, guarantees that fish will be boated or the customer doesn't pay. Call 697-1238 for information on rates and to reserve a date.

Incidentally, there's still time to enter the open team bass tournament on Belleville, which is being sponsored by Sandy's and is scheduled for this Saturday, July 12. Entry fee is $50 per team, with prize money and trophies being awarded to the top three finishers, as well as the lunker smallmouth and largemouth.

Free soccer clinics from Ortega!

At the Ortega/YMCA soccer clinics, kids will learn the fine points of soccer from a Detroit Express soccer star.

This summer, kids from 7 to 18 will have the chance to play soccer like a pro.

Because the makers of Ortega Tacos are joining with the YMCA to sponsor a series of 5 free soccer clinics. And each one will feature a star player from the Detroit Express!

Kids will learn the techniques used by pro soccer players, with special drills in heading, trapping, dribbling, shooting, and goalkeeping.

We'll help your kid look like a pro, too – with a free Detroit Express team T-shirt! To get one, just bring 4 empty boxes of Ortega Taco Shells and/or Ortega Taco Dinners to one of our soccer clinics.

And there's more. All who participate will receive a Detroit Express autograph. And the first 300 participants will receive a free team pennant.

All clinics will begin at 6:00 p.m. at these locations:

HOROSCOPE
by Aboudé

ARIES March 21-April 20
The first two days of this week are tremendous. Enjoy them and then turn concentration to home matters which need attention badly. Understanding is the key. Listening is the way.

TAURUS April 21-May 21
Some kind of travel is highlighted. Be sure you're prepared. Indulge in the finer things: arts, etc. while away, or even if staying at home. Broaden your horizons.

GEMINI May 22-June 21
You need to break out of the routine and pursue new things that most of all provide a form of exercise. Don't procrastinate. Get involved. This weekend is perfect for it.

CANCER June 22-July 23
You have a wonderful week ahead. You can question certain rules and regulations and with the right attitude and procedure, even change them. This weekend is certainly fine for entertaining.

LEO July 24-August 23
Nothing goes wrong this week unless you provoke it. It's important that you remain true to a friend or forfeit all the respect you've gained. Reaffirm your loyalty over weekend.

VIRGO August 24-Sept. 23
Social gatherings are highlighted over this entire period. Accept invitations gracefully and attend. Don't, however, discuss any areas that are sensitive to anyone. Easy does it is the key.

LIBRA Sept. 24-Oct. 23
Another may have had the wrong idea about you and you didn't help with certain performances. Correct that wrong this week and arrange a gathering to seal the friendship over weekend.

SCORPIO Oct. 24-Nov. 22
Despite what you've been told, there's no reason that you can't try something new that has appealed to you for a long time. Something along the lines of music or dance is seen.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 23-Dec. 21
You are reminded of the past either by someone you once knew, or a place you've once been. Don't get into a depressed mood over what's gone, cherish what you have.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 20
Rather than thinking about your problems (there's nothing you can do right now) direct energy toward one close to you who could use the boost. Get out and mingle on weekend.

AQUARIUS Jan. 21-Feb. 19
Life in general around you picks up a bit now and everyone is somewhat happy. Join the mood and bring it home with you. Really learn to share with loved one. Take their hand.

PISCES Feb. 20-March 20
Face a problem head-on and deal with it. Ignorance or running only hides it for a time. Put the past to rest — now. Forget old animosities. Everyone, even you, changes.

I FEEL GOOD NOW! THANKS TO CHIROPRACTIC

I have known about chiropractic since I was a child. My dad was active in the health food business and had many chiropractors as customers and friends.

Now my husband and I get regular adjustments — I know that everyone needs these adjustments to keep healthy. I know because I feel good now.

I used to suffer from a stiff neck and back. The problem would interfere with my daily routine sometimes, mostly when I had a hard day on the job.

I am glad to be getting regular adjustments and highly recommend chiropractic treatments for everyone.

Thank you,
Irene Drott
